DON'T PLANT THAT GARDEN—NOT YET

Spring-like weather today (see picture below) was nothing but a sham and a delusion, and a trap for the unwary, weatherman William Mackie warned.

"Don't start planting that garden," he said. "Another great big mass of cold air is heading our way, and should be here late tonight or early Tuesday. Get set for some snow flurries and freezing temperatures."

BUT IT'S SPRING FOR A DAY

Sunshine and clear skies attracted early tourists to Butchart Gardens today where close to 30,000 bulbs have already been planted. Fifteen gardeners are now engaged in general "cleaning up" and 24 will be working full time at the next main planting in early May. Hatless, coatless man on right obviously has full confidence in Greater Victoria weather—doesn't know snow flurries are predicted by weatherman for tonight.—(Halkett Photo.)

Ike Sees 'Sunny Side' In Balanced Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today sent Congress a $77,000,000,000 budget forecasting a spending cut of nearly $4,000,000,000 and a precarious surplus of $70,000,000. He called it "a confidence budget" that assumes a surge of prosperity.

Eisenhower said the budget aims to restrain inflationary forces that "cheapen our money and erode our savings." He also said it paves the way for a tax cut "in the reasonably foreseeable future."

No tax cuts were proposed for the present. In fact, to help achieve the first balanced budget in three years, Eisenhower is asking Congress to increase postal rates and gasoline taxes. He also wants some tax loopholes plugged.

BOOST FOR MILITARY

Eisenhower said his fiscal blueprint, for all its emphasis on economy, promises to "increase our military effectiveness." The budget calls for increasing defence department military spending by $145,000,000 but projects a cut of $462,000,000 in arms aid to other lands.

Democrats in Congress, which they control, generally were critical of the budget, as they had been even before its submission. Republicans welcomed the plans for a balanced budget and said the alternative is more inflation.

Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson indicated that if Congress increases spending in the new budget a tax increase rather than a cut would become a real possibility. The president disclosed that in the current fiscal year, which ends June 30, the government's finances will be even deeper in the red than had been predicted. He said recession-hit revenues will fall $12,871,000,000 short of matching indicated spending of $80,871,000,000.

WIRE BRIEFS

Polaris Tested

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—A Polaris, the U.S. Navy's intermediate range missile with intercontinental reach, catapulted out over the Atlantic today in the first fully successful flight of the weapon in its final shape.

Scotland Stormbound

LONDON (Reuters)—Blizzards whipped by winds up to 112 miles an hour swept across northern Scotland today. The snow halted land, sea and air travel over a wide area. Communications broke down in many places.

Arbitration Urged

MONTREAL (CP)—Striking CBC producers announced today they have submitted to CBC authorities a proposal for an independent arbitrator from any of three universities to settle the strike that began Dec. 29.

Home Blows Up, 6 Die

KEMAH, Tex. (UPI)—An explosion and fire ripped through a home at Kemah today, killing six persons. Police said the blast was so severe that it apparently demolished the house and killed six members of the family immediately.

Car Hits Pole Near Haney

Two HMCS Naden sailors were killed and a third escaped serious injury in a spectacular highway crash near Haney, B.C. early Sunday.

Dead are OS Gerald W. Bolky, 20, of Webster's Corners, six miles east of Haney, and OS Richard J. Branch, 19, of Moccasin, 20 miles north of Williams Lake.

OS Roy Larsen, 21, of Haney, suffered only slight head cuts and was not detained in hospital.

POWER OUT

An area between Haney and Webster's Corners was without power for nearly two hours after the car, in which the three were travelling, smashed into a power pole four miles east of the town, snapping it in two places and ripping down wires.

RCMP said the car was attempting to pass another vehicle when the accident happened at 2:15 a.m.

The three sailors were on a 48-hour weekend pass from Naden, and had just completed a trade group course there in engineering mechanics.

DRIVER UNKNOWN

Bolky and Branch were dead when medical aid arrived.

Police said it had not yet been determined who was driving the car, which belonged to Branch.

Kin of the dead men were given as Richard Branch, father of the car owner, and Mrs. William Olaniemi, mother of Bolky.

Castro's Invitation Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Wayne Morse (Dem., Ore.) today rejected an invitation by Fidel Castro for United States congressional critics of his revolutionary regime to visit Havana for a first-hand look.

Instead, Morse called on Castro to invite a United Nations team to observe procedures of the new Cuban government, especially those followed in executing Batista backers.

Morse, chairman of the Senate foreign relations subcommittee on Latin American affairs, said:

"The sad fact is that the Castro regime shot many Batista people without a semblance of a fair trial. I haven't any doubt that a fair trial would have found them guilty. However, that does not justify Castro adopting the same police-state methods in handling his opposition as Batista used."

'Snow Jam' Hits Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—A heavy snowfall today caused major traffic tie-ups in the Metropolitan Toronto area.

District Chief John Harrison of suburban North York said it was the worst in years with cars backed up 2½ miles from the city limits on Yonge Street. Traffic was backed up almost 10 miles on the Queen Elizabeth Way to Hamilton behind a multiple accident involving nine cars and three tractor trailers.

Integration Backed

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The Virginia Supreme Court today struck down the state's statutes against racial integration which have closed nine schools.

Diplomacy means 'I don't actually throw eggs at a visitor, I just slip 'em into his pocket.'

It's hard to choose between the Cubans who shot the rebels, and the rebels who are shootin' the Cubans who shot the rebels.

Wonder if any backbenchers'll come forward at the comin' session?

'BILLION DOLLAR BRAGGADOCIO'

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition Leader Pearson today accused the government of misleading Canadians on the state of the economy and embarking on "bumbling and fumbling" policies including a public works program that turned out to be a "billion dollar braggadocio."

"In truth, things now are very different from the vision of 'paradise regained' so joyfully proclaimed by the Tories on last April Fool's Day," the Liberal chief said in the Commons as he kicked off the 10-day throne speech debate.

He moved a motion of non-confidence in the government, charging the Progressive Conservative administration with "lamentable indecision" in dealing with "grave national problems" such as "mounting unemployment."

Cold War Warmed Up By Mikoyan

(Times News Services)

WASHINGTON—Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's sweetness-and-light visit to the United States blew up today in an angry exchange of cold-war charges with the government.

Mikoyan declared in a National Press Club speech that the U.S. is completely rigid in its cold-war position.

"We all realize that the cold war is the prelude—or may be the prelude—to a hot war," he said.

"We have no other alternative—either peace and friendship or war," he warned.

The Kremlin official made the statements following an angry exchange with the state department.

Mikoyan said after a 45-minute meeting with C. Douglas Dillon, undersecretary of state for economic affairs, that the state department is conducting a cold war that affects world trade.

The department immediately issued an equally angry report that Mikoyan was abusing U.S. hospitality by making fatuous remarks about the government.

Mikoyan broadened his charges in his press club speech.

He said the United States, with the apparent backing of its allies, remains unwilling to reach agreement with the Soviet Union on cold-war issues.

'I Believe Americans Want Peace'

The Soviet leader said on the eve of his return to Moscow that talks with Americans generally led him to believe the country wants peace. "But," he said, the government "still remains in the old cold-war position."

He said his talks with President Eisenhower, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and other U.S. officials were "pleasant, friendly and useful exchanges."

But "when it came to concrete, specific matters, it was indicated that the bi-partisan policy, shared by the Allies, remains unchanged," Mikoyan said.

He said the only response he got when asked whether it was good to have an unchanged policy was "that if conditions change, the policy also will change."

"Let us hope," he said, "and those who believe in God pray, that neither our country nor your country nor any other country will suffer from a new war that would be more terrible than anything in history."

Mikoyan obviously was upset by the refusal of Dillon to offer concessions on the issue of U.S.-Soviet trade, which Mikoyan wants to increase.

He emerged from Dillon's office and told newsmen that "the cold war in the state department is still going on and it affects foreign trade."

'Fatuous on the Face of It'

State department press officer Lincoln White replied that "this allegation is fatuous on the face of it, particularly when it comes at the close of a tour of this country where this man has been very cordially received by all classes of American citizens."

Mikoyan was turned down on a three-point plan for increasing trade which included:

1. Removal of restrictions which prevent extension of long-term credit to Russia.

2. Most favored nation treatment for Russian goods and products.

3. Removal of the strategic controls against export of war potential equipment to Russia.

White said Mikoyan refused to accept Dillon's proposal that discussions be resumed on settlement of Russia's Second World War lend-lease debt to the U.S.

Mikoyan urged in his Press Club speech that the United States and Russia stop rehearsing past recriminations and "let us rather act correctly in the future."

He said there "not any obstacles in my path and every facility was given me to observe" during his two-week stay in the U.S.

White referred to Mikoyan's freedom of activity in replying to the Russian's cold-war charges. White said Mikoyan strolled around suburban Washington areas Sunday and entered private homes without invitation.

Runaways Blown Out Of Canoe

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Two young Indian sisters drowned off Chemainus early Saturday morning after running away from the federal government residential school on Kuper Island.

They were attempting to paddle a dugout canoe across stormy, four-mile-wide Stuart Channel which separates Kuper and Chemainus.

Dead are Patricia Marilyn Joseph, 15, and Beverley Diane Joseph, 13.

Two reasons have been given for the girls' misadventure: 1. They wanted to visit their mother at Duncan. 2. They wanted to go to a dance at Chemainus.

The information came from other pupils at the school.

They were the daughters of Fraser and Margaret Joseph of the Songhees Indian band. The parents are separated, the mother living on the Cowichan band reserve at Duncan.

BODY FOUND

RCMP recovered the body of the elder sister Sunday off Yellow Point, about 12 miles north of Chemainus. They are still searching for Beverley.

The two girls stole away from school when their classmates were in bed late Friday night.

They took a skiff and started rowing for Chemainus. A strong wind was blowing at the time. It is believed the boat overturned in the rough waters.

School officials discovered the girls missing Saturday morning, and at first believed they were on the Island.

Later they learned from classmates the children had planned to go to Duncan.

J. V. Boys, superintendent of the Indian Agency at Duncan, said the death of the children was a shock to the school, which he described as one of the "best of its kind" in British Columbia.

"It seems that the younger, Beverley, didn't want to run away with her elder sister," he said, "but she was talked into it."

The federal government Kuper Island residential school has an enrollment of more than 100 children. It is run by the Oblate Fathers, with Oblate sisters acting as teachers.

Cyprus Pact Seems Close

PARIS (AP)—Greece and Turkey today were reported hopeful of arriving at a compromise on the thorny Cyprus issue as secret negotiations continued between their foreign ministers.

"Our viewpoints are getting closer," said both Greek and Turkish sources as the ministers met in secrecy for the second consecutive day.

New Tax Deal For Provinces?

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker is writing to provincial premiers this week to propose federal-provincial discussions on tax-sharing arrangements, it was learned Sunday night.

It was considered possible that the prime minister has in mind negotiations of a new agreement for federal-provincial sharing of income tax revenue to replace existing arrangements.

TAKING OVER FROM U.S.

RCAF to Control DEW Line

OTTAWA (CP)—The government today announced that the RCAF will take over operational control of the DEW (Distant Early Warning) line from the United States Air Force.

Beginning Feb. 1, RCAF officers will take over as bosses at the four main DEW line sites in the Canadian Arctic, which are controlled by the military.

The four sites are Cape Dyer on Baffin Island, Hall Lake on the Melville Peninsula, Cambridge Bay on Victoria Island and Cape Parry on Amundsen Gulf.

The new policy, announced simultaneously in Washington, will involve only 20 RCAF officers. Four have already been trained in the U.S. and the others are being trained.

There are other stations on the DEW line besides the four control sites but they are auxiliary sites and have no military personnel.

The DEW line is operated by 709 civilians, 90 per cent of them Canadians.

The U.S. Air Force will retain at least one officer at each of the four control stations to act as liaison officers with the U.S. contractor which maintains the line. The RCAF now has such liaison officers at these posts.

The DEW line was financed and built by the U.S. at a cost of some $400,000,000. It has been in operation for about 18 months to detect any hostile bombers which might attack North America across the polar regions.

People and Things

SALTASH, England—When Mayor Tom Stanlake decided to hold a municipal ball he called in artist Margaret Seccombe to paint humorous murals on the walls of the local guildhall.

"Paint me in too," Stanlake told her. "Just paint me whichever way you like."

Saturday night, just before the ball was due to start, town clerk Gordon Bellingham took a stroll through the guildhall, looking at the murals. He stopped short before one, pointed at it and ordered: "Take that out!"

It was a painting of Mayor Stanlake, getting ready to take a swim in the local duck pond—clad in nothing but his mayoral chain.

Stanlake supported the town clerk's action.

"I don't mind female nudes, but a nude mayor's hardly the thing."

MARRAKESH, Morocco—The commander of the French air force training base here has ordered jet aircraft to stay grounded until 9 a.m. for fear their noise might wake Sir Winston Churchill, who is on vacation here. Flights normally start at 7.30 a.m.

DALLAS, Tex.—More than 100 youths attending a supper at Lakewood Methodist Church when an automobile crashed into the church and buckled a brick wall.

Church members, who watched police remove the slightly injured woman driver and a bottle of whiskey from the car, were flabbergasted when they recognized her as a woman who had applied for church membership six hours earlier.

Officers said her car jumped a curb, knocked over a post, smashed through a nine-foot hedge, then hurtled 126 feet

DINAMI, Italy—Police today were looking for 30-year-old Giuseppe Perino on charges he tried to bury his wife alive because he dreamed she had a lover.

The wife, Vincenzina, 30, ran into police headquarters and said her husband had buried her up to the neck before she falsely stated she had a lover.

She said her husband dug her out when she promised to tell the name of the alleged lover.

Mrs. Perino said in fact she had no lover but for the past few years her husband nightly dreamed she did.

NEW YORK—Mrs. Marta Batista, wife of Cuba's former dictator, Fulgencio Batista, arrived by plane Sunday from the Dominican Republic and was quickly whisked out of sight by police.

will make necessary another request to Congress for an increase in the legal ceiling on the national debt.

SUBMIT DETAILS LATER

Eisenhower proposed raising $350,000,000 by again increasing postal rates, which went up only last August. He will submit details on this and other revenue proposals later.

The federal gasoline tax would be increased to 4½ cents a gallon from the present 3 cents. The added revenue would go into a special fund to finance road building.

The case with which the budget could slip into the red was pointed up, by, among other things:

1. The distinct possibility that Congress may not go along with all recommendations for increasing revenue.
2. The obvious guesswork involved in estimating outlays for farm price supports. The subsidies this year are running more than $2,000,000,000 above the total estimated a year ago.
3. As in all recent budgets, national security programs account for the loan's share—$45,805,000,000 or nearly 60 per cent. Of this total, Eisenhower has earmarked $40,945,000,000 for the defence department.

Saturday he got the wallet back through the mail—minus the money.

Meanwhile a woman had called his home to ask if anyone there had lost something. Indicating she would call back.

"I sat there from 6 to 11 p.m. waiting for the call which never came," Sunde said.

Identification, driver's licence and insurance card were returned with the wallet.

EXPECT CONFERENCE

Despite the lack of any new suggestions from Mikoyan for breaking the Berlin deadlock, U.S. officials believe an East-West foreign ministers' conference on German issues is probable in a few months. They will begin consultations with NATO allies this week in an effort to develop detailed Western proposals for such talks.

Several times before the TV cameras Mikoyan accused the American press of distorted reporting on the Soviet Union. He maintained his composure even in the face of such questions as whether Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is trying to make himself into a Stalinist-type dictator. Mikoyan denied that is happening.

Mikoyan was reminded at one point that he had compared Soviet intervention in Hungary with U.S. intervention in Lebanon. Then he was asked whether the Soviet press had published for example that "we killed no one in Lebanon and that you killed, according to all reports in our country, more than 20,000 Hungarians."

Mikoyan said that showed the "untruths" spread by the American press. American troops killed no one in Lebanon because the Lebanese "decided not to resist," he said.

Naturopath Detained At Airport to Testify

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER—RCMP subpoenaed a Vancouver naturopathic doctor Saturday night as he was about to board a plane for a vacation in Mexico.

The subpoena, ordered by coroner George J. Dawes of Prince Rupert, instructed Dr. E. E. Rogers to testify next Friday at an inquest into the death of Boxing Day of three-month-old Bertha Mae Prince.

Dr. Rogers said here Sunday night he was handed the subpoena after his bags were already on the plane. He added that he had been planning the vacation in Mexico since before Christmas.

"Sensation-seekers always try to put the blame on someone," he said.

He referred to the deaths of Mrs. Margaret Mary Howard of North Vancouver who died of starvation Christmas Day, 1957, and of Mrs. Edith Rasmussen, 46, of Vancouver who died of starvation April 24, 1957, after eating only fruit and vegetables for several months.

Dr. Rogers had prescribed treatments for both women.

"The verdict of the coroner's court was a clearcut victory for me. The court found the North Vancouver woman starved herself to death against the advice of myself and other doctors. We all tried to get her to eat," he said.

"The woman, Mrs. Rasmussen, was the same thing."

"Everyone knew that was a win for me."

TWO WOMEN KILLED

KAMLOOPS—An elderly widow, Caroline Wurtz, died after being struck by a car here Sunday. Police said Mrs. Wurtz, who had been visiting relatives in the Happyvale area of North Kamloops, was struck by a car as she walked through the community's Fairview shopping subdivision.

VANCOUVER—Mrs. Lillian Genser, 73, was killed Saturday night when she jumped from a driveless car that was rolling backward and was crushed against a telephone pole. Police said Mrs. Genser was alone in a parked car in a driveway when the auto began to roll. Apparently she became frightened and jumped out.

STUDENTS DROP OUT

VANCOUVER—Many bright students are dropping out of school at an early age because they don't know about the great possibilities of higher education, Dr. Claude Bissell, president of the University of Toronto, said here Sunday.

He said in an interview he is not half as worried about the number of students in the university who should not be there as he is about "the fact that there are many young people who should be but are not in university."

Dr. Bissell, on a cross-Canada speaking tour, said he believes most of the blame must be taken by secondary school counsellors or teachers.

"If a student really wants a university education, he won't let the want of a few hundred dollars stop him," he said.

"But the trouble with Canadian education now is that many bright young people are dropping out of school at Grade 12 simply because they have not been advised of the great possibilities in higher education."

Quiet Session? Not Very Likely

Premier Bennett's recent forecast of a "quiet" legislative session finds little support in British Columbia political circles.

Observers say on the contrary, the session which opens Thursday will provide the opposition with many bones of contention to gnaw.

The premier, of course, has the comfort of his strong majority, 38 yes votes to counter 14 no votes, if party ranks hold firm.

There is sure to be loud, long and varied utterances directed at the Sommers' case—now a fair game after being out-of-season for two sessions.

There will be demands for Attorney-General Robert Bon-ner's resignation, probably by both the CCF and Liberals. He will be charged with unreasonable delay in prosecuting Sommers.

There will be more criticism of the proposed development of Peace River power by Weimer-Gren interests—with much of the ammunition coming from the published works of H. Lee Briggs, the B.C. Power Commission general manager who was fired for his temerity.

The government will be charged again with false economy in cutting civil service staffs, and will face demands for bargaining rights for B.C. Government Employees' Association.

Labor generally, through the

... prime target

B.C. Federation of Labor, will press demands for assistance to the unemployed. Some sections of management will call for labor courts and compulsory arbitration.

Lobbying groups from almost every conceivable organization will be in evidence.

But the centre of interest during the session will be the budget. The government will try to picture itself as almost debt-free. The opposition will claim there are more debts than ever—they are just well hidden in the books of various government agencies.

Liberal Leader Arthur Laing, who lacks a seat in the house, claims the government's operational budget is strained to the breaking point. The government can't sell school board bond issues, he says. At least one district has been stopped from building new schools and teachers have been ordered to spread themselves over a greater number of students.

The budget is expected to face some heavy demands for expansion of mental health services, hospital construction, salary hikes for civil servants, and the previously-mentioned assistance to works programs to release unemployment.

The recession, directly responsible for higher welfare costs faced by the government, also is expected to cut government revenues from the 5 per cent tax. This will rule out any reduction in the tax, long advocated by many groups.

The budget is expected to be brought down Feb. 6 and the premier guestimates the session will last about eight weeks.

Preparations are already underway for the opening.

Desks have been removed from the floor of the legislative chamber and seats are crammed into every available area.

Five pages are expected to be on hand, drawn once more from St. Louis College—Greater Victoria School Board—which has no control over this separate school, having objected in the past to student time loss.

The grand opening Thursday at 3 p.m. will observe the usual display of military pomp, and the latest in millinery. Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross will deliver the speech from the throne, outlining the intent of the government in this session—and the debates will begin.

Then comes the proving or disproving of the statement by Premier Bennett that there are "no big issues."

Young Anglers Save Brothers As Boat Sinks

Timely arrival of three 15-year-old boys in an outboard boat Saturday saved two desperate brothers from being carried out to sea in an eight-foot dinghy after their converted fishboat sank off Chatham Island.

Daniel Doore, 30, of 1168 Union and Dermott Doore, 28, of 1611 Belcher, said they were saved by the "luck of the Irish."

The teen-aged rescuers were Glenn Rutan, 1280 Walnut; John "Vic" Henderson, 1331 Vimed, and George Heller, 963 Caledonia.

'Boat Sank in Couple of Minutes'

Despite efforts to plug the bow hole with a blanket, the engine quit.

"We had to abandon the boat. It sank in a couple of minutes. We barely had time to scramble into the eight-foot dinghy we were towing behind," said Daniel Doore.

They rowed for nearly two hours against the tide and a bad chop.

"Instead of getting closer to shore, we were being carried further out all the time. And it was so cold we could hardly row."

By the time the three boys came in sight "we were getting pretty desperate," the older brother said.

When they spotted the boys Dermott stood up and waved to them "until they caught sight of us."

The trio was fishing, and when "Vic" saw the waving, lines were pulled in and they went over to investigate.

The brothers were numb with fatigue and cold.

The tow in to Oak Bay Boathouse took 1½ hours. Because of the extra weight, engine of the 12-foot fibreglass outboard coiled out four times en route.

"I don't know what we would have done if it hadn't been for those boys. They were sure swell and handled everything so well."

"Maybe we owe our lives to them and we certainly want to thank them," said Daniel.

The $3,200 Tampeko was only partly insured.

Owner of the rescue craft is "Vic" Henderson's father.

Draughtsmen To Form Own Society

Standardization of pay and training is expected to result from decision of Victoria draughtsmen to form their own society.

To help them, James Thompson of Vancouver, president of the Society of Architectural and Engineering Technologists of B.C., outlined his society's aims at a meeting of 125 city draughtsmen in Victoria Friday.

Later a spokesman said application for a charter for the formation of the Victoria society will be made soon.

Members would gain recognition in various branches of engineering, education would be provided for men wanting to become engineers, and a job-placement service would be organized.

City Accountant Buys Building On Fort Street

A city accountant bought the Monteith Building, 618 Fort, for $35,000 last week.

Robert T. Obee, who leased the second floor last year, purchased the property from Roger Monteith, operator of a sports goods store in one of two shops on the street level.

Mr. Obee said he would renovate the stores and sub-lease 500 square feet of office space on the second floor.

Originally L-shaped, the building was occupied by the Mellor paint firm until 12 years ago when Mr. Monteith bought the Fort frontage and the T. Eaton Co. bought the section that faced on Broad.

HUNDREDS COLLAPSE IN AUSSIE HEATWAVE

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—Doctors and first-aid men treated hundreds of heat-collapse cases today as the temperature soared to 109 degrees in the shade.

Eight babies were admitted to hospital with heat exhaustion or dehydration. Thirty babies have been taken to hospital since the heat wave began a week ago. Four were dead when they arrived, two later died and two more are dangerously ill.

Dockworkers today refused to work ships on Melbourne's waterfront because of the searing heat.

Elsewhere in southeast Australia, scores of bush fires were controlled but police and firemen maintained constant vigil.

$55,000 Allotted To Saanich Parks

Saanich council has set aside $55,000 for parks and recreation in its provisional budget, the largest ever in the history of the municipality.

It exceeds by $26,000 last year's park budget.

While the allocation may be cut down in the final budget to be approved by council within the next two months, it is likely to stick due to increasing demands from residents for playgrounds and recreational areas.

Requests for parks and playgrounds are coming from residents living in the urban areas, south of Royal Oak, where large subdivisions have sprung up during the past 10 years.

LOWEST OF ALL
Before 1957, Saanich spent about $12,000 or 23 cents per capita on parks; less than all adjoining municipalities. The fund was barely enough to pay for the maintenance of a few existing parks and for summer playground activities.

In addition, no land was purchased to take care of the future recreational needs of the expanding population. It resulted in many choice park areas, including waterfront property, passing into the hands of housing speculators.

DEFINITE POLICY
In view of the lack of any residential planning, council last year took the first step towards establishing a definite park policy. It boosted its budget, carried out general improvements to existing parks and appointed a parks superintendent.

This year Reeve George Chatterton recommended to council that it set aside about $56,000 for park development and for the purchase of land for future development into recreational areas.

Council approved the recommendation, but deferred its decision until all expenditures had been tabulated for the 1959 budget.

The Defence Dilemma

WITH THE LATEST PRODUCTION offer by Avro Aircraft Limited, the Federal Government's dilemma on defence has been brought back into the headlines. Avro offers to deliver 100 Arrow jet interceptors to the Government at a price of $3,750,000 each.

At first glance that appears to be a great reduction from the previously quoted cost of $9,000,000, but it does not include the earlier costs of development, spare engines or missile armament. The all-inclusive price apparently still remains at $9,000,000 per aircraft, or a total of $900,000,000 for the suggested 100 planes.

That is a staggering price for a country this size to contemplate, particularly as 100 aircraft would constitute a bare minimum defence force. The situation is further complicated, for Prime Minister Diefenbaker and those who must make the decision, by the fact that there is wide disagreement among the experts as to the value of the Arrow in defending Canada.

One group holds that the manned interceptor is already almost obsolete and that to invest Canada's money in this form of armament would be to waste it. The alternative, it is said, is a missile, such as the Bomarc, capable of far greater speeds and altitudes and the only weapon able to deal with the latest Soviet bombers or projected intercontinental missiles.

Against this it is argued that the present state of readiness, with constant sorties into space to challenge unidentified aircraft, demands a man at the controls to make last-second judgments. It is argued as well that this situation will hold for some years to come.

The problem poses a cruel dilemma for the Federal authorities, and it is not a problem of their creation. It arises from the rapid development of scientific armaments, the proficiency of the Russians in the latest forms of weapon, and the possibility of overnight developments which could render all present defence armaments obsolete.

A country with the resources of the United States can afford, up to a point, to carry on several lines of armament production, abandoning those which are superseded and pushing ahead with those which show promise. Canada, with a total defence budget at present of $1.7 billions, about one-third of our national budget, cannot afford such a wide choice. Mr. Diefenbaker can make only one guess.

But even if he looks to the future and decides on the Bomarc he must still be plagued by doubts. For it is predicted that even this weapon soon will be obsolete—indeed, the United States is reported even now to have abandoned the Bomarc and to be concentrating on an improved weapon. There has been no official confirmation of U.S. plans.

Unionized labor has called for production of the Arrow on economic grounds. But the country's defence is too vital for such a question to be decided on any other basis than that of military requirements.

Is the Arrow the right weapon, or the Bomarc, or some other weapon? That is the sole question.

A decision was delayed last summer when the Prime Minister indicated that the question would be reviewed in March. That means that an answer must be found at the Parliamentary session now beginning. No more difficult question faces the Commons.

Horse and Bogey Daze

MR. EDWARD MURROW, THE United States radio and television commentator considered by many people the most perceptive American in his field, has delivered a depressing indictment on television.

If films of any one week's complete presentations by any of the three main United States networks in 1958 were to be preserved and were to be studied by historians 50 or 100 years hence they would provide evidence mainly of decadence, escapism and insulation from harsh realities, he says.

"You will find only fleeting and spasmodic references to the fact that this nation is in mortal danger," Mr. Murrow states. "During the daily peak viewing periods, television in the main insulates us from the realities of the world in which we live."

His case is buttressed by recent Trendex ratings which indicate that television programs in the United States find their highest popularity when they are presenting "Westerns."

Mr. Murrow's statement is complete without further comment.

An Excellent Decision

VICTORIANS GENERALLY were delighted to learn that the Federal Government has accepted Fort Rodd Hill as a national historical site and will assume responsibility for its development.

The dedication of the 44-acre area on the west side of the entrance to Esquimalt harbor is thus assured, along with the spit of land on which stands Fisgard Light. For some time, after Ottawa had declared the site surplus, there was a risk that it might be otherwise disposed of and thus lost to public use.

Thanks to the persistent work of local individuals and groups, including Lt.-Col. Aubrey Kent and Capt. G. C. D'Arcy, and the recommendation of Dr. W. N. Sage, B.C. representative on the Historical Sites and Monuments Board, the property will now be used by the public as a park.

There will be few more beautiful or interesting sites in Canada. The nineteenth-century fortress location, which was adapted to modern armament during the First Great War and in use as late as the Second World War, commands a superb view of the Strait and includes small beaches as well as a playground of trees and rocks and a large meadow.

There can be little doubt that as it is developed Fort Rodd Hill will become one of the most popular recreation areas in the Greater Victoria area, both for residents and visitors. To the officials and the private individuals responsible, the thanks of the community are due.

'Oh, the Rock Island Line ...'

THE ROCK ISLAND LINE, which has given a section of the United States a great deal of railroad transportation as well as the theme for a folk song, is figuratively laying new track.

Faced with declining earnings, the Rock Island is experimenting to see if bargain rates will make up in volume for reduction in fares.

Recently the line announced a 28 per cent cut in round-trip sleeping and parlor car charges. Effective January 25, the trial will continue for nine months.

The railroad is going to the traveling public in the apparent hope of bringing the traveling public back to the railroad. That is a point which Canadian lines might note as they increase their charges in an effort to scale new peaks of costs and the sharp competition of other carriers.

New Nest of Singing Birds?

THE NEW ELIZABETHAN Britain may or may not be the "nest of singing birds" its predecessor was. If it isn't, it's trying.

Poetry is busting out all over, and in the most unlikely places.

The bard who slumbers in the British breast has been re-awakened by the challenge of Home Secretary Richard A. Butler.

"Local government," he said recently, "has never evoked the noblest range of eloquence. No poet ever wrote a sonnet about a local council, or the removal of refuse."

The removal has pricked British poetical pride. The rhymes are rolling in, only in part we believe, encouraged by the two guinea prize Mr. Butler offered for the most lyrical work on the subject.

Eileen Griffin, of New Malden, Surrey, has found inspiration in the contents of the garbage can:

"These cartons, too, that harbored golden grain
In many gulfs, and this cellophane

Which sheltered yet revealed in altered shape
The fruit of Tunis or the Muscat grape;

These slender tins Sardinia's sea recall."

Hurray for Eileen Griffin! Thomas Gray lamented the glory of purest ray serene the dark, unfathomed caves of ocean bear and flowers born to blush unseen and waste their fragrance on the desert air. Eileen finds poetry in a garbage can—where, undoubtedly, a great deal of current verse belongs.

'Does This Door Open to Another Brick Wall?'

THE REAL US

By B. A. TOBIN

In Clear View

IN these days of the Bikini, the strapless evening dress and other aids to almost-but-not-quite female nudity it is odd to hear a complaint that a swim suit failed to provide complete protection.

A news item reveals that a woman in Michigan is suing an apparel store for $2,500 because of embarrassment and humiliation caused when the swim suit she had bought turned transparent after a dip in Lake Michigan. It must be assumed that the lady's concern is genuine. If it were a mere matter of money she could easily have obtained at least this amount from some Hollywood starlet ever on the alert to buy a newsworthy item of apparel.

Society being what it is—and for the purposes of this argument we must exclude that part of society to be found on the shores of the Black Sea, in nudist camps, on the posing stand in art schools, in bathrooms, in bedrooms, at the old swimmin' hole, and in all other places where a state of bodily bareness is acceptable and beyond criticism—society being what it is, then, the lady was no doubt quite justifiably concerned about her predicament.

Secret Fear

Many persons are said to suffer recurrent nightmares based on just such a situation as the plaintiff experienced on the shores of Lake Michigan. The purveyors of such a swim suit might well expect an opportunity to explain their product in court.

But the lady's plight, when you come to think of it, is one which most of us suffer, in a slightly different form, at one time or another.

And the embarrassment and humiliation of being caught in a transparent swim suit might be much less of an ordeal than that undergone by some of us in a more intangible way.

Manikind can be left bare and exposed to public view in more ways than one. And it does not take a dip into Lake Michigan to cause it.

Take the case of a man who for years may have built up a covering of pseudo-generosity to conceal his real avarice. One day, perhaps quite by accident, he takes a plunge into a pool of publicity, or maybe merely gets damped down by some fluid criticism, and immediately he stands revealed to the public gaze, his inner self recognized for what it is.

Fully Covered

Or take a politician who long has fooled the public about his true intent. The picture he has built up has been universally accepted. His suit for swimming in the political seas is thick and opaque; embarrassment and humiliation would seem to be the least of his dangers.

But one day a flood of criticism from some quarter may penetrate his protective fabric and leave him standing on the shore in full view of the world.

Nor need we go so far afield. There is hardly a human being who does not have at least one psychological swim suit in his wardrobe that he relies on to protect his true nature from the public gaze, but which would prove vulnerable to a dip in the cold truth.

It would probably be a grim world if we didn't have full protection.

Not many of us are ready for the frankness of the Black Sea resorts where bathers reputedly dispense with swim suits, or for the mass display of the nudist camps. Still less are we ready for full public revelation of our characters, our inner feelings, our secret dreams.

In Step

The odd thing about physical display, of course, is that it is entirely a question of the prevailing fashion. Where all are nude the clothed person may feel acute embarrassment and humiliation. If transparent bathing suits were the accepted style and no one dreamed of wearing anything else, a woman might well sue the store at which she had been sold an opaque suit which made her appear different from the rest of society.

Some day the world may reach a point where, quite apart from high style Bikinis and low style evening dresses, nudity is the accepted fashion. One suspects that before that day arrives some drastic improvements may have to be made in the average appearance of mankind.

Some day, even more remote, the world may reach a point where it is customary for individuals to present only their true characters and natures. In this case it will be even more imperative to effect far-reaching improvements in ourselves before they can be put on show.

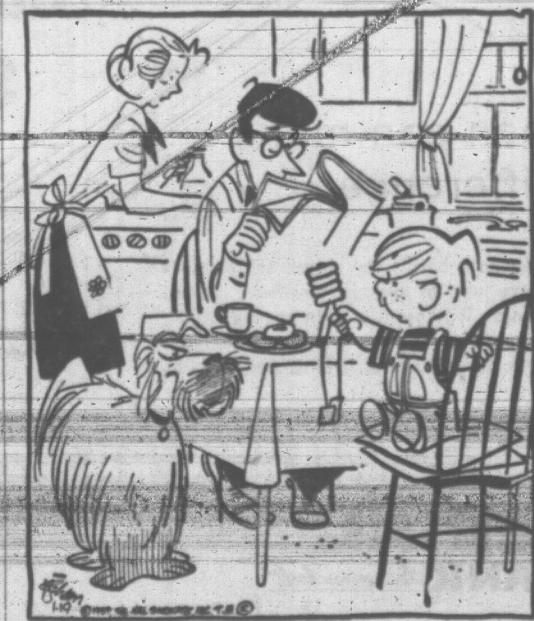

We may be anxious to see ourselves as others see us, but we are far from ready to see each other as we really are.

MARKED for READING POETIC ART

The art of writing poetry is keeping that natural ear for rhythm with which we are all born, and having something to say. I notice that a great many unpublished poets think that it is enough to write what they have to say in short lines which do not scan with the ones before, and which do not even have a rhythm of their own. You can only write in free verse when you have first learned to write in the strict traditional metres, from which you intend to free yourself. Others write in the traditional metres, but they have nothing to say that has not been heard already and they use dead words which are associated with poetry and have become mere conventions and hackneyed phrases.

—John Betjeman, British poet.

As Our Readers See It

Assessment and Taxes

We, the members of the Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association, Victoria Branch, have no objection to the Equalization Act which has just been passed by our present government. The valuation was set by the provincial assessors at 60 per cent of the value, as a means of getting a fair standard.

This assessment equalization has been asked for on several occasions by the Victoria city council. We know taxes have to be levied and paid, so as to keep the services going in the municipality.

What we do object to is the increase in our property taxes, through an increase in the mill rate. When a municipal valuation has increased, without expansion then the mill rate should come down, and taxes would be kept even, with everyone paying his fair share. It is the city council who set the mill rate and levy the property tax.

The Pay Scale, Mr. Starr

With regard to the pamphlets being distributed to all Canadians at this time from the office of Michael Starr, Federal Minister of Labor, imploring all citizens to have necessary work done during the winter time.

I have written Mr. Starr today with the following comment:

"Dear Mr. Starr: This is O.K. as far as it will go. But, what about the many people who are in the squeeze who would very much want to have work done but cannot possibly afford to pay from $3 to $5 an hour for labor? This is the nub of the whole question. Labor won't agree to reduce their exorbitant demands no matter how many people are willing to work for say $2 an hour.

"Thousands of homes etc. are needing attention that would be done if costs were not so high. The manager of the Dominion Employment Office here tells me that this is a matter entirely in the hands of the unions.

"Your comment would be appreciated."

People can talk about the weather, religion and politics. But we in Canada may also talk about that will-o-the-wisp, the Canadian flag. Indeed we have done so for decades.

Yet we saw, about forty years ago, Australian cadets marching in Victoria under their flag of golden stars on a beautiful blue field. I have never heard

FROM WASHINGTON

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Mr. Dulles Moves

AT his last press conference on Tuesday, Mr. Dulles opened the door to negotiations on the future of Germany. He was scrupulously careful to say that he was not now negotiating with Mr. Mikoyan. But he has made it possible for Mr. Mikoyan to report back to Moscow that there is a desire on both sides to get together and talk.

Mr. Dulles did this by making two points. Neither of these points is entirely new. But the emphasis upon them, considering the circumstances, gives them a new importance.

The first point is that while the formula of reunification by free elections is the "agreed formula" and, while we think it is "a natural method," he "wouldn't say that it is the only method by which reunification could be accomplished."

The second point is his acceptance of the principle that for a reunited Germany there must be military guarantees to reassure the Soviet Union: "If there is going to be any reunification of Germany, it has got to be under conditions which take into account realistically some of those very elemental, primitive facts of life."

The record shows that the point which Mr. Dulles made about free elections was first made in our note to the Soviet Union on Sept. 30 of last year, and was reiterated in our note of Dec. 31. For some months at least we have not regarded free elections as the "necessary first step" to German reunification.

Military Guarantees

And the record shows also that we have long recognized that if the Soviet Union withdraws from a reunited Germany, it is entitled to have military guarantees against the possibility of German aggression.

Nevertheless, it is important that Mr. Dulles emphasized these two points on the eve of his second round of talks with Mr. Mikoyan. It was evident, at the press conference that he was acutely aware that there would be a reaction in Bonn, possibly in London and in the other West European capitals.

To soften this reaction, he dwelt on the thoroughness of our consultations with our allies, and he spoke at length on his agreement with and admiration for Dr. Adenauer's conception of European policy.

But his remarks that free elections are not the only method by which reunification can be accomplished have, as the dispatches show, aroused Dr. Adenauer. He has said that he would like to see once again, as on several previous occasions when Mr. Dulles tried not to be entirely inflexible, Dr. Adenauer will compel Mr. Dulles to retract and reverse himself.

The real question about free elections is whether they must come first, of any objection to Australia having this flag of their very own; then why not a Canadian flag?

Having marched under our Union Jack, I, too, prefer red for our British ancestors, white for our brothers of French origin, and a green maple leaf for the future of all Canadians.

If the choice is too much for us, we might seek advice from our sister Commonwealth of Ghana. They were able to choose their own flag in about a week!

STIRLING P. HANNA,

Historical Evolution

In your issue of 9th Inst. Mr. W. F. Orchard, writing of Canada's flag, generously admits certain people "have a right to their judgment, individually and collectively, but," he continues, "let their judgment be in light of history with progress by evolution, not revolution by a minority who blind their eyes to the past."

This writer believes if Mr. Orchard will simply remove the blinders from his own eyes, scan the pages of Canadian history from 1919 to 1958, he will learn the wildest dream of Charles R. Darwin has completely turned Canada over from a colony under the superior authority and decision of the British Parliament (see clause 65 of B.N.A. Act) to a free, independent, sovereign state in the Commonwealth of Nations.

The events of this revolution are easy to follow. 1. A friendly skirmish was the Imperial Conference 1926 when by convention the "equality of status" of the various colonies with Great Britain was endorsed. 2. The British Parliament in 1931 confirmed the "conventional" 1926 endorsement by passing the Statute of Westminster thereby creating the British Commonwealth. 3. The status of Canada's sovereignty (independence) was stressed by the Canadian Parliament declaring war on the German Reich, Sept. 10, 1939. The declaration of war on the Reich by Britain Sept. 3, 1939 did not, (and had not been intended to) mean that Canada was also at war on that date. 4. The changes in the Coronation oath taken by King George VI and slight change in his titles. 5. When India declared its intention to become a republic the word "British" was deleted from the title "British Commonwealth of Nations," and so was born "the Commonwealth of Nations," and that is how our Queen describes it. 6. When our beloved Queen was crowned, the division of the Crown was acknowledged and stressed in her Coronation oath and her titles. She became Elizabeth II, Queen of Canada. To some people this is all "poppy talk," to others "just bunk," but to students of history, political science, government and international law the foregoing is according to law and is correct.

ROBERT D. MacLACHLAN,
P.O. Box 903, Victoria, B.C.

Further Left

Thus, for example, a reunited Germany with free elections would be far more to the left than Dr. Adenauer's Germany. For another example, the whole fascinating structure of the West European political and economic community, which Mr. Dulles spoke of, would have serious problems if it had to digest the 17,000,000 East Germans.

For still another example, a reunited Germany could not long remain the camping ground of the NATO armies, and this would raise the problem of where the NATO forces should be stationed.

Against all these difficulties there has, however, to be weighed the grave and incalculable dangers of the continuing partition of Germany. For, sooner or later, there will be uprisings against the Soviet hold on East Germany and on Poland, and if there are these uprisings, we may all be sucked into the struggle.

Provisional Regime

To avert that it is necessary to proceed to the reunification of Germany which, if I understood him correctly, is what Mr. Dulles has decided that he must try to do.

If that is our purpose, there is no reason why German reunification should not begin with a provisional regime—that of a dual state with some common political institutions—under a pact or constitution which promised that there should be a gradual integration over a period of years, culminating in a free election to elect a constituent assembly, which would form an all-German state.

This is not, as some writers have conceived ways of bringing about reunification of the two Germanys. The crucial question is whether on the Soviet side and on our side there is in fact a genuine will to make one German state.

Tea-Piece

"No, I'll take my tea clear, thank you," said Amy as her hostess' sister proffered the tray with cream and sugar.

The penance of diets, she thought, and turned her attention to the room and conversation about her.

"The topics of the forties and the fifties," she said to herself as she listened to the matronly hum and the polite ripple of restrained, tea-party laughter. "I'm apt to take them for granted nowadays, but 20 years ago they'd have struck me as very dull and old or else extremely funny."

"Calories," said the woman next her. "I can't exist on 1,100. I'm sure that some people need to eat more than others, and I'm one of them. What's the sense in being hungry all the time?"

"Consomme," said a woman who'd caught the word "calories." "You can have consomme without visible fat, and it doesn't count at all."

"I hate consomme," said the first woman. "Try cottage cheese then. Half a cup is only 108."

"Grade 10," said a disconnected voice from across the room. "Grade 10 is quite the worst stage. We found ours had improved enormously by Grade 11, and Grade 12, they were really quite pleasant to live with."

"Have you children?" asked the woman next to Amy.

"Yes, three," said Amy. "But Susan married last month and will be in Toronto for at least a year, and the boys are both at college."

"So are mine. The house seems so quiet and tidy without them, somehow. Even with plenty of interests, life is very different."

Ruth

"Yes, Amy began, but suddenly the general conversation switched to eyesight and glasses, and the children were lost in an argument about bifocals."

"I'm having such a time getting used to mine," said the woman in the turquoise-colored dress.

"It's the phone book," said someone else. "I can see everything except the phone book. This new one is simply terrible. But I hate to get glasses just for that."

"Eyes and teeth," said a cheerful voice. "The trials of middle age!"

"Well, I'm hanging on to my own for as long as I can," said someone. "But my dentist is just yearning to take them out. But I don't see how we can manage teeth for Harold and myself, and a new car and helping Betty with her fees at UBC."

Women were so comforting, Amy thought, and listened with amusement while a woman whose name she hadn't caught was most entertaining about shoes with very pointed toes, and hats which she described as misbegotten toadstools or flowerpots.

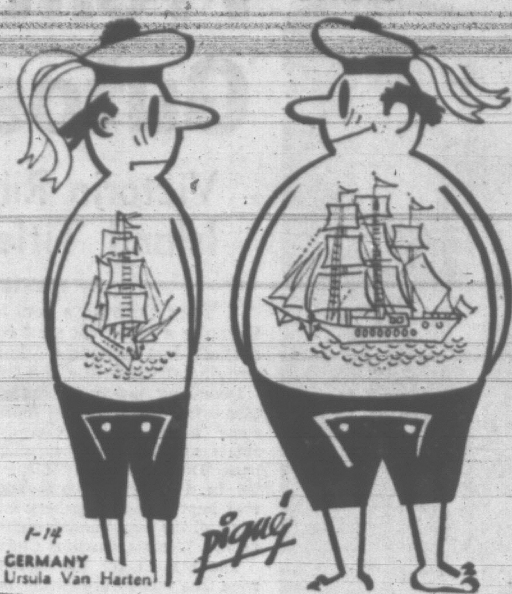

"Nice tea?" Amy's husband asked her when she was putting supper on the table.

"Yes," said Amy. "Just women, and talk that wasn't exciting or clever, but just very homey and pleasant to have once in a while. You know—eyes and teeth and diets, the young at high school or college, or marrying and going away. The emptying house, and the care of the old."

"Lord," said Robert.

"No, it wasn't," said Amy. "It was part of the pattern of life. The middle-aged part. Just as diapers and formulas were part of the early years. Do you remember the first Christmas we didn't go near the toy department because, suddenly, the children were too big for lots of little toys and wanted fewer, more grown-up things?"

"What's that to do with it?" asked Robert. "Everything," said Amy. "In a few years we'll probably be back in the baby departments and the toy stores. As grandparents, I'm really looking forward to it. It's all part of a fascinating pattern."

Philip to Circle Globe in 100 Days

LONDON (Reuters)—Globe-trotting Prince Philip sets off this week on a tour of the Commonwealth that will take him around the world by sea and air in 100 days.

The journey starts Tuesday when the 37-year-old husband of the Queen leaves London in a Comet IV jetliner for the 5,000-mile flight to New Delhi.

As past president of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, he will attend meetings of the Indian Science Congress and the Pakistan Association for the Advancement of Science.

Preparations for the tour have been under way for some time. In Sib, a Sarawak village where the prince will spend a few hours, residents have been white-washing their huts, by order of the local council.

BRITANNIA RENDEZVOUS The royal yacht Britannia, equally spick and span, is on its way to Rangoon, Burma, where it will pick up the prince in mid-February.

From there he will travel 16,300 miles in eastern Asia and the Pacific, visiting Christmas Island, scene of British nuclear tests, and Singapore, where the Chinese New Year festivities will be in full swing.

Other points along the itinerary include Hong Kong, the Solomons, the Gilbert and Ellis Islands, the Panama Canal area, and the Bahamas. The prince will leave the yacht in the Bahamas and visit Bermuda before returning to Britain by air April 30.

Once back at Portsmouth, the yacht immediately will be prepared to take the Queen and Prince Philip to Canada in June, when the Queen will open the St. Lawrence Seaway.

ARGUE:

'Soothing Syrup' Speech

TORONTO (CP)—Hazen Argue, CCF leader in the Commons, Saturday described the speech from the throne as a "dossier of disappointment and a testament of futility."

Mr. Argue, speaking at a meeting of local 82 of the Furworkers' Union, said the throne speech read at Thursday's opening of the new parliamentary session, offered only "soothing syrup" to Canada's unemployed.

The speech reflected a "bland unconcern" about agriculture. "There is not even a polite mention of the agricultural depression. Crop insurance and extended farm credits are all to the good but deficiency payments and parity prices seem to have been committed to the valhalla of forgotten election promises."

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Hates New Year Parties

LONDON—Names in the news... Robert Morley, giving his views on New Year parties: "I never go to them. I can no longer face the moment when everyone joins hands and sings Auld Lang Syne. Are we never to be allowed to forget old acquaintances? The best New Year's party I ever went to was given by a promising young starlet who had filled her flat exclusively with the friends she had made over the preceding 12 months. 'If there is one thing to be said for getting on,' she said blithely, 'it does enable you to drop your old friends.'"

Richard Williams, ex-Toronto commercial artist, getting puffs for his feature cartoon film, The Little Island, just opened at London's exclusive Curzon Cinema. Among the praises: England's two most highly regarded movie critics, C. A. Lejeune of the Observer, "brilliantly contrived," and Dillys Powell of the Sunday Times, "brilliant all round."

Maurice Chevalier, now 70, had a reply to the query, did you know when to stop playing the lover? "It is simple. One day you look in the mirror and it's started to look like your passport picture—you know then it's time to stop."

Rex Harrison announcing future plans: "In March I come out of My Fair Lady after three and a half years of being Professor Higgins—a fair run. Then I'll go to my house in Portofino in Italy and just laze. After that—who knows?"

With him at Portofino will be wife Kay Kendall, free to go off to Italy after her unhappy Christmas present—the closing of her play, The Bright One, after only a few performances. And the future of My Fair Lady? The management at Drury Lane expect it to run for at least another five years.

Belafonte to be seen (and heard) regularly and exclusively on BBC-TV in the New Year, following the signing of a whopping (for the BBC) contract involving £25,000 for Mr. B. The bosses at the BBC are keeping their fingers crossed that this won't be a repeat of their big signing of 1958—the dismal flop of the Syd Caesar series.

Compton Mackenzie quote: "If I were a godfather wishing a gift on a child, it would be that he should always be more interested in other people than in himself. That's a real gift."

Noel Coward, into his 60s now, in town over the holiday season and at work on a new musical which his followers hope won't be an addition to his succession of musical-show failures in the postwar years (Pacific 1860, Ace of Clubs, etc.). His temporary confinement to a sick bed has prompted.

Emlyn Williams to comment on the news that Coward's health is "improving": "That's the first favorable notice he has had for years."

The vicar of St. John's, Harrow, on the subject of that old churchgoer's dilemma: "One of the greatest tests of man's faith is to find himself in church with nothing smaller than a ten-shilling note."

HOME GARDEN

By JACK BEASTALL

Odd Jobs for Mild Spells

The mild spells we have been enjoying between the rain storms are ideal for winter clean-up work in the garden.

It is the kind of weather which compels you to find some excuse for being outside, and it has caused a flurry of questions on what can be done about it.

Jack

time of year

In the open garden.

If you have a protected

glass continuous cloche, there is possibility of success with sowings of broad beans, winter lettuce, winter spinach and a short, forcing variety of carrot.

However, any seed sown now in the open is not going to make a lot of headway in the next six weeks, and it might be better to wait awhile than have the seed rot in cold, wet soil.

But the urge to be outside can be satisfied by cleaning out thickets of blackberries, and possibly repairing the old fence they have so nobly supported.

If your soil is not too sodden, you will find this a good time to work on areas overrun with couch grass. While the soil is damp it is possible to lift the couch grass roots with a spade.

MORE REWARDING

It is much more rewarding than trying to get out the roots when the soil is partly dry, for then they break and many small pieces are left to start new plants.

If your property has a privet or any type of hedge along a boundary line, this is a good time to clean it out at the base.

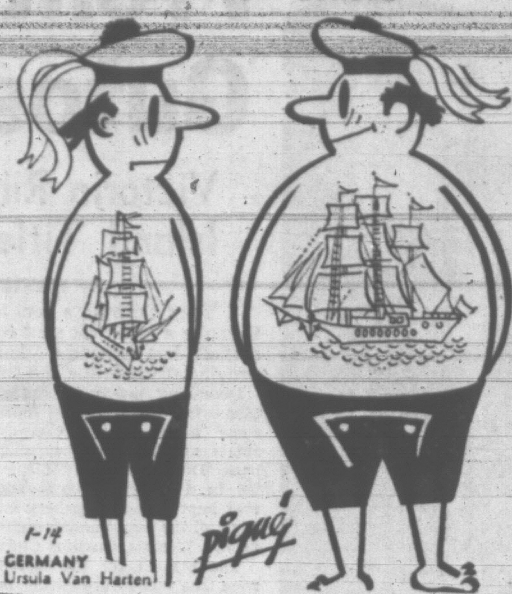

There is always an accumulation of leaves and twigs which harbor pests and disease spores, and if the hedge is along the street boundary, it will also collect candy wrappers, bus transfers, and cigaret packets.

FEWER PESTS

Spending the mild days in cleaning up is not wasting time. It is an investment which will pay off when the diseases to combat when the seedlings pop up.

Anyway, it's good to be outside if only to spot all the jobs which could be done if one had the ambition.

U.S. Senators Invited To Witness Cuba Rally

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Fidel Castro said today he has invited 350 foreign newspaper men and commentators to attend a giant rally called in Havana Wednesday to show support for his speedy trial and execution of henchmen of deposed dictator Fulgencio Batista.

The revolutionary chief said he also had invited U.S. congressmen who "in recent days have severely criticized the executions of war criminals by the revolutionary army."

"We have extended the invitation," a Castro statement said, "so that the truth of what is happening in Cuba may be told to all citizens of every country in America. We believe that if the truth is known any misunderstanding that has occurred in recent days regarding the situation in our country will disappear."

CALLS RALLY

Castro called for 500,000 Havana residents to turn out Wednesday to back his regime's rejection of foreign criticism of the speedy execution of those convicted of killing opponents of Batista.

The auxiliary Roman Catholic bishop of Havana, Msgr. Alfredo Muller, Sunday night endorsed the executions, reported to have reached 207 throughout Cuba.

Appearing on a television interview with Castro, Bishop

Muller said that he personally opposes capital punishment but that the Church permits it in some instances.

"In this case it is justified," he said.

REVISES ESTIMATE

Castro said in the TV interview that only military men will face the military tribunals. He also reduced slightly his earlier estimate that 450 in all will be executed, saying no more than 400 will be put to death.

The rebel leader called for the United States to return members of Batista's regime who fled north, saying:

"If the United States does what it says—what democratic principles demand—if the United States is decent and civilized, it cannot help war criminals."

There are some 650 prisoners awaiting trials in La Cabana fortress overlooking Havana Bay and some 5,000 and 6,000 under arrest in all Cuba.

TONY'S CREW LIKES TROPHY

took another step towards successful defense of trophy by winning Vancouver Island crown Sunday after eight-rink, round-robin zone playoffs. It was Victoria Curling Club icemaker's fourth Island title in five years.—(Photo by Bill Boucher.)

Front-End Power Pulls Gutoski to Fourth Final

Victoria Rink Captures Island Title in Playoff

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Tony Gutoski, a cool icemaker who Sunday needed to make a last-rock shot count in a tense, sudden-death playoff, has skipped a Victoria Curling Club rink to the provincial finals for the fourth time in five years.

Defending provincial champions, the Victoria club four-some made to the Consols finals at Vernon by turning back Duncan's Glen Harper 7-6 in a dramatic comeback that kept a packed gallery on edge all the way Sunday night at the Victoria Curling Club.

The playoff for the Island zone title was forced earlier in the day when the two rinks finished with identical 6-1, won-lost records after an eight-rink, round robin final.

Gutoski lost his only game on Sunday's first draw, losing 7-6 to Don MacRae of Nanaimo in what must be ranked as the outstanding game of the week-end's playdowns. The Victoria quartet bounced back on the next draw to defeat Harper 11-8, handing the Duncan rink its first setback.

Both rinks then prepared for their sudden-death meeting by winning their final-round matches with ease. Gutoski scored on the first seven ends to wallop Bill Osborne 11-1 in a game conceded after eight ends by the Alberni Valley Club entry, Harper, scoring four-ends on the fifth and ninth ends, thumped Victoria's Gar Taylor 13-3.

The sudden-death playoff was a fitting climax to a week-end of curling that saw standing-room-only crowds pack in behind the glass at the Quadra street rink.

In a game featured by brilliant shooting and, at times, master strategy, each miss turned the tide abruptly. In the long run, it was the strong showing of his front-end that paved the way for Gutoski's victory.

Coast Breezes Revive Totems

Seattle 3, Victoria 0

Even in hockey, there's no place like home. Seattle Totems weren't exactly at home when they faced Victoria Cougars in a Western Hockey League game at Memorial Arena Saturday night, but at least they were back in their own Coast Division.

Returning from a swing through the league's Prairie Division, in which they managed only two victories in eight games and had their once-commanding lead trimmed to three points, the Totems apparently found the coast air a much-needed tonic and behaved as if they were presiding in their own parlor.

Shaking off the weariness of their gruelling Prairie jaunt, they were flying all the way as they clipped the Cougars 3-0, climbing five points ahead of Vancouver and Spokane, and six in front of the Cats.

Villain of the piece, as far as most of the 3,024 fans were concerned was slender Bev Bentley, who calmly combined a healthy portion of luck with brilliant goaltending as he made 18 saves on the way to his fifth shutout of the campaign.

Although Bentley and his hustling playmates fully earned the victory, the Cats didn't deserve to be blanked. They were unfortunate in running up against a good club that was having a hot night and, as traditionally happens when they attract a good-sized crowd, the Cougars couldn't cash in on their chances.

Puck Wouldn't Behave for Cougars

Giving away an edge in speed and harassed continually by stubborn Seattle checking, the Cats still spent a lot of time around the Seattle goal, but on the times they had Bentley in trouble, they either couldn't control the puck or couldn't hit the inviting target.

Doug Anderson was through the Totem defence three times, twice on plays with newcomer Bruce Lea, and Doug Macauley, Lea, George Ford and Gordie Haworth, who turned in another outstanding game, were also in for good chances only to shoot wide or into Bentley's pads.

Marcel Pelletier came up with several good stops at the other end. He turned aside a total of 22 shots and had little chance on the three that found their way into the Victoria net.

Tommy McVie connected in the first period, flipping in a rebound after Pelletier made a sprawling save from Val Fonteyne. Dave Rimstad, sent to Seattle by the Cougars a week earlier, connected on a screaming screen shot from well out in the second session and Gordie Sinclair ended the scoring while Victoria's Jim Hay was serving a third-period holding penalty.

Guyle Fielder, the league-leading point producer and the standout of Saturday's game, picked up two assists.

Cougars make their next start Wednesday, at Memorial Arena, hosting the Saskatoon

Quakers, who started a Coast Division tour Saturday night by bouncing New Westminster, 7-5.

Abbott's Sharp Kicking Boots Gorge to Second

"All right, dear, but how quietly... Daddy has work to do!"

Billy Abbott offered all the scoring punch Gorge Hotel needed at Ladysmith Sunday as they blasted the up-Islanders 6-1 to move past Esquimalt into second place in the Victoria and District Football League standings.

The move, helped by Esquimalt's 1-1 tie with Heaneys, placed Gorge four points behind leading Canadian Scottish, who defeated Butler Brothers 2-1 at Beacon Hill Park.

On Saturday, Kickers, with Dick Nellist leading the way, handed Brodie's Bakery a 4-2 setback at Royal Athletic Park.

Gorge opened a 5-0 half-time lead at Ladysmith, with four of their goals coming from Abbott's centre-forward position. Bob Mars scored the fifth and Chumme Crabbe added the other in the second half. Ladysmith's only tally was scored by Stu Batte.

George Paul converted Pete Moran's pass into a 1-0 half-time lead for Esquimalt at Topaz Park, but Joe Robbins fired a long shot into the navyland net with just two minutes remaining to equalize the count.

GOALIE SHINES At Beacon Hill Park, Butler goalie Paul Smith put on an outstanding display. Only Taffy Jones and Mario Fera scored for the Scots, while Fred Allen tallied for the last-place Butlers in the second half.

Nellist drove home all four goals for Kickers as they moved into undisputed possession of fourth place. Willie McMillan and Ken Hibbert scored for Brodie's.

COLWOOD GOLFERS PASS OPEN BUTTONS AROUND

Bill Court and Mike Bartkow passed the Victoria District Golf Association open buttons on to a pair of Colwood clubmates Sunday after being beaten, 2 and 1, by Vince Clarkson and Joe Evans.

The four had battled to a draw two weeks ago. Junior button action was postponed until next Sunday with Dale Dalziel competing in the Vancouver Island curling championships. Dale and his brother, Noel, will play J. Hadfield and B. Humphries next week. Evans and Clarkson will meet Joe Pryke and Dave Fanthorpe at Gorge Vale, starting at 12.30 p.m.

Wanderers' Trio On Touring Team

Three standouts with Oak Bay Wanderers and Lt. Cmdr. Dave Mackenzie, a former Scottish International, will be Victoria's representatives on a B.C. Rugby Union all-star team that will make a month-long exhibition tour of Japan.

A five-man selection committee named Victoria's Chris Pollard, Don Burgess and Peter Clarke to the 22-man team to be managed by Mackenzie and coached by Ken Banks of Vancouver.

The team and six alternates were named following a trial match in Vancouver Saturday. Alternates, including Lynn Patterson of the Wanderers, will make the trip only if members of the original squad are unable to travel.

Backfield players are: Burgess; Neil Henderson, Max Howell and Ted Hunt of UBC; and Glen Stover, George Saines, Bruce McEachern, Bob Parry, Norm Blake and Buck Ellison of Vancouver.

Forwards are Pollard and Clarke; Gerry McGavin of UBC; and Captain Buzz Moore, Peter Grantham, Tom Christie, Ossie Djerden, Doug Muir, Danny Veitch, Peter von Harten, Greg Bjarnason and Tom Taylor of Vancouver.

Reserves are Patterson, Danny Oliver, Russ Henschell, Bill Saines, Bill Claridge and David Bruce-Thomas of Vancouver.

The team will play a total of eight games, two against an all-Japan team, three against university teams, two against clubs and a final game against an all-star team representing Tokyo-area universities. The tour starts Feb. 22.

UBC BACKFIELD SHINES

Birds Fly Too Fast For Weakened Tide

Spirit—and determination—weren't enough Saturday for Victoria Crimson Tide rugby team to stand against the UBC Thunderbirds in McKee-chie Cup intercity action at Macdonald Park.

Stripped of 10 players by a combination of injuries and a test match for the Japanese tour, in Vancouver, the Tide fell by a 24-3 count to the fast, hustling "Birds."

Speed in the backfield was the key to the UBC and the Tide three-quarter line was unable to contain the Albert Lathwaite-coached collegians.

Victoria was behind 13-0 at the half on UBC tries by Al-lardyce, Phillips, Bob McKee and a pair of conversions by Stu Smith.

Victoria looked for the first 15 minutes in each half like the better team, and controlled much of the territorial play throughout the contest.

Smith came back after the breather for a penalty kick and then converted Peter Bugg's try before Victoria hook Sam Patterson scored from a loose scrum.

Dick McIntosh and Ian McDonald completed scoring for the Thunderbirds with a pair of tries.

Victoria's next McKee-chie Cup match will be played against Vancouver Rops, at home, Jan. 31 with their final game against UBC at Varsity Stadium, Feb. 7.

Only One Title Escape! City Shuttle Monopoly

Four players almost made a closed corporation of top honors in the city badminton championships at Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club Saturday night.

Bob Hunt successfully defended his men's singles crown against former Canadian junior champion Harvey Hurd and then partnered Hurd to capture the men's open doubles crown.

The same thing happened in the women's divisions with Sharon Whittaker defeating Bev Anderson for the singles title before combining with her singles rival for a doubles triumph.

Hunt defeated Hurd, 14-17, 15-12, 15-5, in the singles and the pair downed Eric Hibberson and Stu Reid, 15-12, 7-15, 15-11, in the doubles.

EASY VICTORY

Miss Whittaker had no trouble defeating Miss Anderson for the singles crown, vacated through injury by Maureen Bray, 11-1, 11-2, and the two had only a few troublesome moments with Jill Kelly and Clare King in the ladies' doubles, winning by 15-6, 15-12 scores.

George Lane and Muriel Knott broke the monopoly in the mixed doubles final, defeating Hibberson and Rene Wells, 15-9, 15-8.

Jim Hawthorne won the consolation men's singles final from Jim Peters, 15-12, 15-8. Other results:

"B" CLASS Ladies' doubles—Val Clark and Anne Curry defeated Jo Crampton and Elsie Cooley, 15-12, 15-8. Men's doubles—Gary Meagher and Ron Karadimas defeated Al Wilson and B. Sluggitt, 15-6, 15-12. Mixed doubles—Virginia and Rodger Lindal defeated Elsie Cooley and Dunc Tolson, 15-8, 14-15, 15-15.

The group won out over the Vancouver Little Theatre Association and the Burnaby Little Theatre in the three-day festival at the York Theatre.

In addition to the B.C. award and a $100 cash prize, the Players also won trophies for best actress and best director.

Adjudicator Richard Ainley, son of the famous Shakespearean actor Henry Ainley, announced the winners.

The B.C. Festival was the second of 14 regional presentations to be judged by Mr. Ainley, before the Dominion finals in Toronto, May 18 to 23. The central Ontario festival was the first one completed.

Sixty-seven players took part in the three plays. The Burnaby group, which presented Arsenic and Old Lace by Joseph Kesselring, won awards for the best visual production, best supporting player (Al Lewis) and best actor (Peter Statner).

Vancouver Little Theatre Association won nothing in their presentation of The Lark by Jean Anouilh.

The White Rock group chose Dark of the Moon by Howard Richardson and William Berney. Directors Franklin Johnson, who also acted in the drama, and leading-lady Etta Murphy were the group's individual winners.

ROBIN WOOD THRILLS CITY AUDIENCE

'Memorable Experience in Music'

By AUDREY S.T.D. JOHNSON
Whether one was hearing Robin Wood for the first time or the tenth, such a degree of sensitive, alert musicianship coupled with profound technical authority as he displayed Sunday afternoon, as solo pianist with the Victoria Symphony Orchestra, was bound to astound and delight.

Some of his listeners remembered him as a young student in Victoria playing at Musical Art Society junior concerts. Many could recall hearing him play with the orchestra on his last visit home in 1956-57.

But seldom has it been more clearly demonstrated that a genuine artist who works at his art uncovers ever richer resources in his progress.

In playing the magnificent Brahms' Second Concerto in B Flat, the pianist provided abundant evidence of this through the dual lyric-dramatic qualities of the concerto.

EXPRESSIVE
Always notable for his superbly sensitive touch, more than ever the quality of tone he evoked appeared luminous, yet warm and expressive.

Mr. Wood has never been the sort of musician whose techniques one could discuss at length for lack of more aesthetic qualities to consider. Yet throughout—and particularly in the finale—it was apparent that his already considerable technical prowess had expanded and taken on added power and lustre.

The two last movements alone, in the poignant utterance of mood, the elegance of limpid piano passages and sheer brilliance, provided a memorable experience in music.

That the solo artist appeared enthusiastic over the performance of his fellow musicians in this work was not surprising.

GREAT BEAUTY
Hans Gruber and the orchestra provided moments of their own that must be regarded with pride and delight. The famous cello solo passages in the third movement were played with great beauty of tone and phrasing by Mary Evans.

What has already been said of Mr. Wood can only be compounded when commenting on the Bach Double Concerto for Two Pianos and String Orchestra, in which he was joined by his brilliant wife, Winnifred Scott.

PERFECT MATCH
This was an altogether delightful performance, the strings of the orchestra giving out a shining body of tone that found its perfect match in the balanced pianism of the duo artists.

In Beethoven's F. Major Symphony, the "Pastorale," the orchestra gave one of its most vivid performances this season. Inspired by definitive and vital direction from pictorial symphony were drawn perceptively, with a firm but flexible rhythm and in a rich romantic spirit.

The concert will be repeated All the images of this most tonight at the Royal Theatre

Wild Slide Down Ice Injures Sixteen Girls

NORTH CONWAY, N.H. (AP)—Sixteen terrified teen-aged girls were injured when they went sliding dizzily down an ice-glazed ski trail on 3,000-foot Cranmore Mountain, Sunday.

The trail had been closed to skiing as hazardous. None of the girls had brought their skis but in a frolicsome mood they decided to try sliding.

Almost instantly their speed was beyond their control and they were thrown against trees, brush and rocks as they plummeted 100 yards down the trail.

When found, they were strewn about the trail-bruised and bleeding, some unable to stand.

Carol di Spirito, 16, suffered pelvic and lumbar spinal fractures and a bladder injury. Five girls were held at Memorial Hospital for less serious injuries. Ten other girls were treated at the hospital and released.

Blacklisted Movie Writer Won Oscar

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dalton Trumbo, film writer blacklisted by Hollywood studios, Friday night identified himself as the author of "The Brave One," a script which won an Academy Award in 1956.

The script had been listed under the name Robert Rich. The writer never claimed the oscar.

The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences last week lifted its rule against giving awards to persons blacklisted by studio for alleged Communist connections.

Trumbo said he would accept the 1956 Oscar now if it were offered.

'Matchmaker' Most Ambitious

Plans are going forward satisfactorily for the production of The Matchmaker which is to be presented as the third production of the season by the Victoria Theatre Guild. The play opens on Jan. 31 and promises to be one of the Guild's most ambitious productions in recent years.

In addition to the members of the cast, a total of no less than twenty-eight members of the Guild are actively engaged in the production under the directorship of Phyllis Dilmage.

Although no decision has yet been made by the board of directors, the cast are anticipating the possibility of an extended run.

Service Clubs Urged to 'Get Ball Rolling' on Auditorium

Greater Victoria service clubs today were urged to band together in an effort to start the ball rolling for construction of a civic auditorium.

Courtney Haddock, chairman of a former committee that spearheaded a drive for an auditorium three years ago, today said the Greater Victoria centennial committee's decision to put at least $10,000 in trust for an auditorium is "a marvelous start."

"We all want a worthwhile multi-purpose auditorium," he said. "The service clubs could be of great help if they formed a council to back the project and put their combined revenues into it along with the grants from the municipalities."

"The provincial government could be asked to contribute too."

"If we fiddle around we'll never live to see it built. We need some group to get the ball rolling and that's where the Greater Victoria service clubs could be of great assistance."

Mr. Haddock pointed out that the Spokane, Wash., multi-purpose auditorium was making a profit and is booked solid for months ahead by conventions and community associations.

"I'm confident we can do the same thing if we refuse to be faint-hearted about it. It would be a great boon to the area because this is a tourist, not an industrial, city."

"We would get the money back very quickly in new revenue for the whole area from the large conventions that could be attracted here by a proper auditorium."

Presidents of three service clubs indicated today their executive committee would consider Mr. Haddock's proposal if an official approach was made.

"Certainly we would consider it fully," said Rotary president Maurice Green. "There is a council of service clubs that meets occasionally and this might be something for it to discuss."

Kiwanis president Robert Dykes said his club would consider joining a united drive if it was officially requested.

Junior Chamber of Commerce president Ray Rawnsley said it "definitely would be considered if we get something in writing."

However, all three men added their clubs were currently engaged in major projects that could not be dropped. Rotary is assisting Goodwill Enterprises, Kiwanis is embarking on an expansion of the Kiwanis Village for senior citizens, and the Jaycees are raising money for a second ice skating surface.

MONTE ROBERTS

Although I am but a mere house husband, I have every sympathy for the multiple problems of the modern housewife.

Especially with regard to the modern labor-saving devices with which the kitchen of the modern housewife is infested.

The house husband, too, has his problems, such as at what temperature to set the thermostat controlling the furnace.

But these are picayune compared to the problems of the modern housewife.

Last week, right here in Victoria, one of these problems manifested itself in the ugliest way.

A housewife who is married to one of the loyal constituents of this column recently acquired a fully automatic range.

The kind which starts itself and stops itself by a time clock.

So one day this housewife wished to go out and around and about during the afternoon, and still have dinner ready at six p.m.

She followed the simple directions, prepared the dinner, set the stove's time to start the oven at 4:30 p.m. and to turn it off at 6 p.m.

She then left the house, at 1 p.m., secure in the knowledge that modern science would protect her during her absence, and produce a dinner of excellent quality at 6 p.m.

The rest of the story is simple but tragic; she returned just before six, and reports she has never in her life seen a stove look so frustrated.

It turned on at 4:30 p.m. and was about to turn off at six p.m.

The only trouble was, the housewife had left the dinner sitting on a shelf just out of reach of the stove.

You think this housewife has a problem?

Then think of the housewife of the future.

I have it on reliable authority that there will soon be available a stove which operates by the use of IBM-type punch cards.

What the housewife has to do is put the meat, potatoes, vegetables, cream sauce and so on in different ovens or on burners, then feed the stove the correct punch card.

Automatic timers will follow the direction of the card and turn everything off and on at the right time.

You will notice, please, I mentioned feeding the stove the CORRECT punch cards.

What will happen when the housewife feeds the stove the INCORRECT punch card?

(And you can bet your last upsidown cake she will.)

The mashed potatoes will be grilled, the steak boiled, the carrots fried, and the cream sauce evaporated.

And it is entirely likely that even the correct card will be inserted backwards, resulting in everything being deep-frozen instead of deep fried.

Indeed, indeed, I do sympathize with the plight of the modern housewife.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

An illustrated talk on Japan and Japanese culture will be given at the Art Gallery next Wednesday evening at 8:30 by Professor B. C. Binning, head of the Fine Arts Department at the University of British Columbia. One of Canada's best known painters, Professor Binning recently spent several months in Japan.

A film analysis of world communism, "The Crimson Shadow," will be shown at 8 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 24, in the Evangelical Temple, Queens and Blanshard.

The half-hour presentation will be made by Rev. Arthur Sheppard, and the public will be welcome.

First consignment of Bibles to the Soviet Union was made recently by the British and Foreign Bible Society in Canada, consisting of 200 copies in the Armenian language.

The society sends Bibles to different parts of the world at the rate of six tons a day throughout the year. The books are free, the cost being borne by the society.

Attilio Randv, last original stall operator left in the public market building, said over the weekend that a petition will be circulated among shoppers next Saturday, urging city council to preserve the 44-year-old landmark instead of demolishing it for a parking lot when the main firehall is vacated this spring.

He said council should determine feasibility of constructing a concrete roof over the stalls and using the second floor for a civic auditorium.

FROZEN TUNA HOT OR COLD?

The atomic age came close to home today.

The federal fisheries department, taking no chances of a "hot" cargo arriving here, sent an inspector to Ogden Point with a geiger counter to check for radioactivity in a 25-ton shipment of frozen tuna from Japan.

King Brothers Ltd., agents for the Elizabeth Bayle which was the vessel, reported the check was "normal routine" on all seafood caught in Pacific waters that conceivably could be affected by hydrogen bomb tests.

Mayor Percy Scourrah today received a wire from Ottawa outlining details of Queen Elizabeth's visit to Victoria during a cross-country tour this summer.

"But I can't release it because it is confidential," he said. "It will be announced from Ottawa in a day or two."

Dorothy McNaughton, Duncan, was fined $250 and her driver's licence was suspended for one year when she was found guilty in city police court today of impaired driving last Nov. 21.

Reluctance cost traffic violator Ronald S. West, 321 Mainland, an extra $5 when he was fined $10 in city police court today for failing to signal and passing a stop sign.

When first called to court he failed to obey the summons, a warrant for his arrest was ordered, he was taken into custody and released on bail to appear at the second calling. He did not show up.

West said he was working the first time, came late the second time. Magistrate William Ostler said he was "most discourteous to the court."

Elected 1959 president of the League of Roses (Lancs and Yorks) last week, was H. Inman. Other officers elected at the organization's annual meeting were: H. H. Hughes, first vice-president; Mrs. F. Fairless, second vice-president; W. Booth, secretary, and Mrs. S. McAllister, treasurer. New executive includes Mrs. R. Dawes, Mrs. R. White, Mrs. N. Watts, A. V. Dallin, M. Abbott and C. C. White.

Victoria Aquarium Society's meeting this month will be held at Norway House Wednesday at 8 p.m. Non-members will be admitted.

The Dickens Fellowship, Victoria branch, will meet at the home of its president, E. F. Wetherston, 565 Marfield, tonight at 8.

A REAL 'CUT-UP'

Blandly indifferent to what he has done to Mom's curls, five-year-old Bruce Pinard faces the camera with Mrs. Norma Pinard at home at 457 Thetis Crescent. Armed with large pair of scissors, Bruce calmly sheared off one side of Mom's head while she slept. Alas, Mrs. Pinard had hoped to join her sailor husband in Halifax, where he is taking a six-month course, but must now wait until her hair grows again. "I nearly went crazy when I woke up and looked in the mirror," Mrs. Pinard said. "Now I'm just beginning to see the funny side. I only hope my husband will." (Photo by Strickland.)

At Hollywood Park Service, 1600 Fairfield, one of two stations entered, $44 cash was taken from a till and spark plugs, flashlight batteries and possibly two car batteries were stolen after entry was made through a transom window.

The other place was Ed and Austy's Service, Quadra at Broughton, where a number of flashlight batteries and spark plugs were taken. Entry was by way of a window.

By DAVID COWLESHAW

Members of the Seafarers' International Union are planning to go on strike against Canadian Pacific coast steamships Feb. 16, The Times was told Sunday.

Federal administration of the fleet—ordered last July 25 to break a two-month walkout—is due to end Feb. 15.

The SIU spokesman, a Vancouver man in Victoria during the weekend, said "the boys" originally planned to strike the CPR ships Feb. 1, but decided to wait until the 15th "so they can do it legal."

'HOT-TO-TROT'

"They have been hot-to-trot for many weeks," he said, "and it'll all blow up on the 16th of February."

Union port agent in Vancouver, Norman Cunningham, today declined to align himself with the SIU informant, but admitted members were "hot to do something" when the federal administration ends.

Asked if this was an indication of strike action, Mr. Cunningham replied, "Once we're out of it (federal control), what happens next is up to the membership."

NO COMMENT

A CPR spokesman declined comment on the statements, and R. K. Smith, federal administrator in Vancouver, could not be reached at his hotel.

The federal government took over the CPR ships after lengthy negotiation talks to end the then year-old dispute resulted in failure. The SIU men walked off the ships May 16.

Wicks Tells MP To Mind His Own Business

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks today told a British member of parliament to mind his own affairs.

Last Wednesday, E. H. C. Leather, Conservative MP for Somerset, criticized B.C. union leaders and said the B.C. labor scene is one of the most unsettled in the world.

Mr. Wicks did not say whether he agreed or disagreed with Mr. Leather's sentiments, but he said: "It is a little unusual for a political personage to go into another country and make comments on matters of public contention, which he did. Comment on international affairs would be more appropriate."

TWO FISHERMEN SAVED WHEN WIND FLIPS BOAT

Two men were rescued after their 42-foot fishboat overturned in strong winds Sunday in Satellite Channel in the Gulf Islands.

Ollie S. Ve and Leo Hansen, both of Vancouver were picked up by a department of fisheries vessel.

According to reports, the fisheries vessel took the stricken craft in tow after the rescue, but were forced to cut it loose as it started to sink. It was lost with all gear aboard.

Man Dies After Two-Car Crash

Edward D. Miles, 36, hurt in a two-car collision Tuesday afternoon at Scott and Ryan Streets, died of his injuries Sunday morning at Royal Jubilee Hospital to become Victoria's first traffic fatality for 1959.

A night-shift printer for Victoria Press Limited, he was driving west on Ryan Street when his car was in collision at 3 p.m. with a second car driven by Clare L. Brown, 2664 Scott.

Mr. Miles was thrown to the pavement between the two cars and suffered a fractured skull and other injuries. His son Terry, 7, passenger in the car, was treated at Royal Jubilee for bruises, but was released the same day.

Mrs. Shirley Brown, passenger in the second car, was treated at the hospital for shock, but also was released the same day.

An inquest will be held Wednesday at 10:30 at Sands Mortuary.

VETERAN

Born in Winnipeg, Mr. Miles served five years with the RCAF during the Second World War as a mechanic, seeing duty at several flying stations across the country. He worked for newspapers in Calgary, then came to Victoria eight years ago, starting work with Victoria Press soon after.

He was a member of the Victoria Press, Limited, 10-pin bowling league and an ardent football fan and belonged to Centennial United Church.

Surviving are the widow, Helen, and three children, Philip, 13; Dianne, 10, and Terry, all at home, 3366 Wordsworth; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Miles, and a sister, Mrs. Helen Halliday, all of Victoria.

The funeral will be held Thursday, at 1 p.m., at Sands, with Rev. Douglas Carr officiating, and interment will be at Hatley Memorial Gardens.

Alexander Resigning Power Firm

It is anticipated in informed circles that Lord Alexander will resign his directorate of the Peace River Power Development Company.

Earlier reports of his resignation were denied today by company officials in Vancouver, but it was indicated strongly that his resignation was anticipated because of ill health.

He has informed the board that he will be unable to attend the next meeting, scheduled for Vancouver Feb. 15 to 20.

It is possible his resignation may be submitted at that time.

Lord Alexander is recuperating in England following a second heart attack.

The Peace River Power Development Company was formed to explore possibility of power development in B.C.'s interior, backed by Swedish financier, Axel Wenner-Gren.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. When was one month's free B.C. Electric light given, and why?—T.M.C.

A. Electrical power was given free of charge by the BCE in November and December, 1943, November and December, 1944, and October 15 to November 15, 1945. The company had experienced rapid growth in electric and gas loads and in the transit system during wartime, and so that the allowed rate of return would not be exceeded, Premier John Hart, on recommendation of the Public Utilities Commission, ordered the company to supply customers with free light. Based on the seven years prior to 1943, revenue during war years could not be considered normal, nor was there any assurance they would continue at this rate. Therefore the PUC did not feel a complete revision of the rate structure was indicated, but went to electrical consumers was justified on a temporary basis.

It is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor, questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve controversial or local problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to dealers.

Spadea's International Designer Pattern

IRENE GILBERT of IRELAND

The shirtwaist dress is due for one of the biggest revivals ever to hit the fashion world, and this adaptation by Irene Gilbert is certainly slated for a starring role. Effectively cut as only Miss Gilbert knows how to do it, the bodice front is one with the sleeve. The slanted open neckline is on the straight of the goods, while the rest is slightly off grain, a handling that assures a beautiful fit. The shoulder dart also acts as the shoulder seam, another ingenious trick. Graceful skirt swing is achieved with a two-panel flare in front, and four panels in back. Adaptable to any fabric, you'll want it in flannel or other thin wools for now, in silk, gingham, chambray, shantung, rayons for later in the season. From this size chart select the one size best for you.

Size	Bust	Waist	Hips	Length from nape of neck to waist
10	34	24	35 inches	16 1/4 inches
12	35	25	36 inches	16 3/4 inches
14	36 1/4	26 1/4	37 1/4 inches	17 inches
16	38	28	39 inches	17 1/4 inches
18	40	30	41 inches	17 3/4 inches
20	42	32	43 inches	17 3/4 inches

DEAR ABBY

Could Be Your Fault, Mom!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My son is a mechanic in a garage and he married the daughter of the man who owns the garage. I called him up this morning and asked him if he would come with his car and drive me to the doctor's. I have to have shots for my nerves. He said, "Why don't you walk, Ma? The walk will do you good." The doctor's office is a good two miles from my house and he knows it. Do you think it is his fault or that stuck-up girl he married?

MRS. L. DEAR MRS. L.: The girl didn't raise him—she only married him.

DEAR ABBY: My husband was engaged to another girl before he married me and she had his child. I knew all about this before I married him and I accepted the fact. Naturally I wasn't thrilled with the idea of his having to pay out so much every week for child support, but I loved him, so what could I do? My problem is that my husband keeps wanting to go with a husband who is "ashamed" of your family for their lack of education? By all means, invite them, but I suggest that first you take a long look at the man you intend to marry.

CONFIDENTIAL TO NICK AT THE BAKERY: Cast some of that bread on the waters.

For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

If you want a collection of Abby's best letters and answers in one book, ask your bookdealer to get "DEAR ABBY" for you.

DEAR ABBY: I am to be married soon and the man I am marrying doesn't want my family to attend the wedding. The reason is because he is ashamed for his people to meet my people. He thinks they are crude and downright trash. I will admit they are poorly educated but they are hard working people and never asked anybody for anything. Should I have them anyway, or forget about it and always feel bad secretly? HURT.

DEAR HURT: Do you think you could live happily

Suede Snow Boots Fine If City Has More Snow!

By PENNY SAVER

Here's hoping Victoria won't be covered with snow again this winter... but you never can tell! So, if you're in doubt, be a wise bird and hop down to this shoe store that's selling suede snow boots for women at $5.97. Smart overshoes come just above the ankle and are fashioned with heavy rubber soles and lined with thick nylon and wool fleece.

Teenies' love dainty ballerina flat shoes! And they'll be even more enthusiastic when they see these adorable casuals or party shoes—styled—with pointed toes and deep scooped throats. Buttons and bows trim the instep to give them a feminine touch. In leather, suede and patent at $2.97.

Sturdy brown oxfords with one or two-inch heels are selling at this particular shop at $5.97. I'm hoping my older readers will take note of this buy, because the smart shoes are worth at least a "try on" next time you're in town.

For the career girl, I've found plain black suede or patent pumps with the Italian pointed toes and tiny heels. These are excellent for office or dress wear and are priced at $6.97.

Here's a truly amazing buy on cocktail shoes for the party gal! Toe out, heel out pumps with high slim heels in black suede or leather, are priced at a low price of $5.97.

Give me a call at EV 2-3131 and I'll tell you where I was shopping today!

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Signature for remarried widow:

I would like your opinion as to the propriety of a widow, who has remarried, using her first husband's surname as a middle name on her personal stationery and other related items.

Louise Davis answers:

I can't understand why or how anyone would think of incorporating any part of a first husband's name after remarrying. The instant a widow takes another husband, her previous husband's name is dropped completely. No allowance can be made for using the first husband's surname, even if there are children. Unless adopted, children keep their own father's name, but when the mother has a new husband, she uses his name and not even her signature can contain the other husband's name. If Edith Brown first married George Smith, her name is Mrs. George Smith and her signature is Edith B. Smith or Edith Brown Smith or just Edith Smith. Mr. Smith dies and she marries William Anderson. She is then Mrs. William Anderson and her signature is Edith B. Anderson.

Wearing a smartly tailored black and green checked tweed suit, Mrs. Joan Wolrige-Gordon sits before the fireplace in the living room of Mrs. J. H. Binko's home on Cherry Tree Bend where she is guest for several days.

Daughter of Clan Chief Visits City During Travels

By JUDY NICHOLSON

A personal interest in members of Clan MacLeod, of which her mother, Dame Flora MacLeod, is chief, is taken by Mrs. Joan Wolrige-Gordon, who is in Victoria at present.

Through her mother, Mrs. Wolrige-Gordon has learned to bring the clan to its people in every part of the world. At present she is on an extended trip which will take her through the United States then back to Canada.

"In former years my mother has visited Canada and the United States and has been the guest of Clan MacLeod groups in many cities. This year, however, it was decided I would make the trip to North America," she explains.

It was a happy decision for Mrs. Wolrige-Gordon in more ways than one for her second son (and next chief of Clan MacLeod) John Wolrige-Gordon, is studying at McGill University in Montreal.

"John has always been enthusiastic about Canada, so much so that last summer he and a friend from McGill travelled—roughing it all the way—across the country to Victoria," his mother says. "By the time John arrived in this fair town, he was hardly recognizable behind the large black beard he had grown during his travels."

Mrs. Wolrige-Gordon has two other sons. George, her eldest, retains his father's clan name of Gordon as is the Scottish custom.

"My youngest son, Patrick, has made me very proud, by becoming the youngest member of parliament in the House of Commons at the age of 23. He was elected to this position early in November in the by-election in east Aberdeenshire," she says proudly.

Big Collars, Loose Sleeves, News

By NONA DAMASKE

Victoria Daily Times 13
MONDAY, JAN. 19, 1959

These fashion editor Nona Damaske is in eastern United States for the spring and summer showings of the Couture Group of the New York Dress Institute. She is writing of her experiences in this column.

Watch for... Rising waistline and curves; waistline definition; deep set-in belts; drawstring ties.

Watch for... Puffy tops, large collars standing away from the neckline; deep, low necklines on suits and coats often filled in with soft chiffon blouses.

Watch for... New look in sleeves, wide, loose and short; above the elbow even for coats and suits.

Watch for... Sashes ranging from neat flat bands of self material to gorgeous bowed affairs of silk satin. Suits are built up with cummerbund bands or wide leather belts that show below the short suit jacket.

Watch for... Flounces at the hemline, at the neckline and barely rippling over the hips on some short suit jackets.

Watch for... Large buttons, coin dollar size.

Watch for... Checks, black and white, brown and white, beige and white.

These are the signs of spring and summer, 1959.

MILLINERY
In the mad-hatter session we saw gorgeous millinery from all the well-known designers.

Brims range from wide to narrow whether in the sailor, a la the skimmer or up-curved as the Breton. High crowns carry out the high rise look of many ready-to-wear ensembles.

The skimmer with its straight brim line is the perfect foil for the short jacket suits so popular this spring. Milliners and hair stylists have had a meeting of minds and there are many high crowned and open crowned chapeaux to go with high built-up directoire hair styles.

Coolie brims with conical crowns; imperial headresses; silken reproductions of cherry blossoms and other exotic flowers of the Far East reflect the currently popular

Oriental influence in this season's millinery.

It's cold, cold, cold! Women along Fifth Avenue are hooded and booted, fur-coated and in many cases, with legs covered by leotights. Shop windows are gay with swim suits and resort wear.

Many of the models are wearing straight, side-swept bangs which come to the level of the eyebrows. Fashion editor from Holyoke, Mass., has christened them "astigmatism bangs."

Labor Leaders Go Slowly On Statistic Bureau Plan

MAYOR TOM ALSBURY
... "both sides guilty"

Victoria's labor leaders were cautious in their comment today on a suggestion by Vancouver's Mayor Tom Alsbury that a provincial government industrial relations council be established to cut down squabbling over statistics between labor and management.

Several union officials expressed approval of the plan, but declined to be quoted pending outcome of the Victoria Labor Council elections Wednesday.

Council secretary-treasurer A. W. Toone said he would "have to know much more" about the suggestion before he would comment on it.

The mayor made the suggestion in a speech to the Pacific Northwest Personnel Management Association.

He said he envisioned a provincial organization patterned on the federal bureau of statistics and the federal research council. It would compile official statistics on comparative wage rates, costs and all matters pertaining to industry and labor.

He said that at present, "both sides, management and labor, are guilty of loaded statistics." Accurate, unbiased statistics would be valuable in argument over B.C. industry's ability to compete in world markets.

He added that figures quoted by Mr. Leather proved losses due to work stoppages "put B.C. lowest in the world."

"This responsibility lies with labor and management," the mayor said. "The public is not in a preferred position."

Mr. Alsbury, himself prominent in labor circles, disagreed with Mr. Leather's criticisms of Canadian unions' affiliation with U.S. unions, and protested his allegations of "gangsterism, violence and corruption in U.S. unions."

PRISON PLAN TEMPORARY

Petition Dropped At William Head

A promoter of a petition protesting use of the William Head quarantine station as a barracks for model prisoners said Saturday he had withdrawn his objections after receiving information from the federal government that the venture is temporary.

Charles G. Argall, Lombard Drive, was one of 85 signers of the petition circulated in the Metehosin district and forwarded to Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton and Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

"I was hoping all along that the government looked on William Head in this light," he said. "I gather that officials want to test the treatment they will offer prisoners there, but feel like we do that it is not the best place. It is an experiment."

Mr. Argall said he and the other signers of the petition believe the William Head area to be ideal for recreation and as a tourist attraction, and that there are "dozens of uses" for the quarantine station other than for a prison.

"I can't speak for the other residents here," he said, "but I am satisfied with the government's explanation. I don't feel that I need protest further."

Sisters Drown Up-Island; Two Sailors Die in Crash

Car Hits Pole Near Haney

Two HMCS Naden sailors were killed and a third escaped serious injury in a spectacular highway crash near Haney, B.C. early Sunday.

Dead are OS Gerald W. Bolky, 20, of Webster's Corners, six miles east of Haney, and OS Richard J. Branch, 19, of Micoene, 20 miles north of Williams Lake.

OS Roy Larsen, 21, of Haney, suffered only slight head cuts and was not detained in hospital.

POWER OUT

An area between Haney and Webster's Corners was without power for nearly two hours after the car, in which the three were travelling, smashed into a power pole four miles east of the town, snapping it in two places and ripping down wires.

RCMP said the car was attempting to pass another vehicle when the accident happened at 2:15 a.m.

The three sailors were on a 48-hour weekend pass from Naden, and had just completed a trade group course there in engineering mechanics.

DRIVER UNKNOWN

Bolky and Branch were dead when medical aid arrived.

Police said it had not yet been determined who was driving the car, which belonged to Branch.

Kin of the dead men were given as Richard Branch, father of the car owner, and Mrs. William Ojanima, mother of Bolky.

'BILLION DOLLAR BRAGGADOCIO'

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition Leader Pearson today accused the government of misleading Canadians on the state of the economy and embarking on "bumbling and fumbling" policies including a public works program that turned out to be a "billion dollar braggadocio."

"In truth, things now are very different from the vision of 'paradise regained' so joyfully proclaimed by the Tories on last April Fool's Day," the Liberal chief said in the Commons as he kicked off the 10-day throne speech debate.

He moved a motion of non-confidence in the government, charging the Progressive Conservative administration with "lamentable indecision" in dealing with "grave national problems" such as "mounting unemployment."

Cold War Warmed Up By Mikoyan

(Times News Services)

WASHINGTON—Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's sweetness-and-light visit to the United States blew up today in an angry exchange of cold war charges with the government.

Mikoyan declared in a National Press Club speech that the U.S. is completely rigid in its cold war position.

"We all realize that the cold war is the prelude—or may be the prelude—to a hot war," he said.

"We have no other alternative—either peace and friendship or war," he warned.

The Kremlin official made the statements following an angry exchange with the state department.

Mikoyan said after a 45-minute meeting with C. Douglas Dillon, undersecretary of state for economic affairs, that the state department is conducting a cold war that affects world trade.

The department immediately issued an equally angry retort that Mikoyan was abusing U.S. hospitality by making fatuous remarks about the government.

Mikoyan broadened his charges in his press club speech.

He said the United States, with the apparent backing of its allies, remains unwilling to reach agreement with the Soviet Union on cold war issues.

He said the United States, with the apparent backing of its allies, remains unwilling to reach agreement with the Soviet Union on cold war issues.

'I Believe Americans Want Peace'

The Soviet leader said "on the eve of his return to Moscow that talks with Americans generally led him to believe the country wants peace."

"But," he said, the government "still remains in the old cold war position."

He said his talks with President Eisenhower, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and other U.S. officials were "pleasant, friendly and useful exchanges."

But "when it came to concrete, specific matters, it was indicated that the bi-partisan policy, shared by the Allies, remains unchanged," Mikoyan said.

He said the only response he got when asked whether it was good to have an unchanged policy was "that if conditions change, the policy also will change."

"Let us hope," he said, "and those who believe in God pray, that neither our country nor your country nor any other country will suffer from a new war that would be more terrible than anything in history."

Mikoyan obviously was upset by the refusal of Dillon to offer concessions on the issue of U.S.-Soviet trade, which Mikoyan wants to increase.

He emerged from Dillon's office and told newsmen that "the cold war in the state department is still going on and it affects foreign trade."

He said there "not any obstacles in my path and every facility was given me to observe" during his two-week stay in the U.S.

White referred to Mikoyan's freedom of activity in replying to the Russian's cold war charges. White said Mikoyan strolled around suburban Washington areas Sunday and entered private homes without invitation.

Runaways Blown Out Of Canoe

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Two young Indian sisters drowned off Chemainus early Saturday morning after running away from the federal government residential school on Kuper Island.

They were attempting to paddle a dugout canoe across stormy, four-mile wide Stuart Channel which separates Kuper Island and Chemainus.

Dead are Patricia Marilyn Joseph, 15, and Beverley Diane Joseph, 13.

Two reasons have been given for the girls' misadventure: 1. They wanted to visit their mother at Duncan. 2. They wanted to go to a dance at Chemainus.

The information came from other pupils at the school.

They were the daughters of Fraser and Margaret Joseph of the Songhees-Indian band. The parents are separated, the mother living on the Cowichan band reserve at Duncan.

BODY FOUND
RCMP recovered the body of the elder sister Sunday off Yellow Point, about 12 miles north of Chemainus. They are still searching for Beverley.

The two girls stole away from school when their classmates were in bed late Friday night.

They took a skiff and started rowing for Chemainus. A strong wind was blowing at the time. It is believed the boat overturned in the rough waters.

School officials discovered the girls missing Saturday morning, and at first believed they were on the island.

Later they learned from classmates the children had planned to go to Duncan.

J. V. Boys, superintendent of the Indian Agency at Duncan, said the death of the two children was a shock to the school, which he described as one of the "best of its type" in British Columbia.

"It seems that the youngest, Beverley, didn't want to run away with her elder sister," he said, "but she was talked into it."

The federal government Kuper Island residential school has an enrollment of over 100 children. It is run by the Oblate Fathers, with Oblate sisters acting as teachers.

Cyprus Pact Seems Close

PARIS (AP)—Greece and Turkey today were reported hopeful of arriving at a compromise on the thorny Cyprus issue as secret negotiations continued between their foreign ministers.

"Our viewpoints are getting closer," said both Greek and Turkish sources as the ministers met in secrecy for the second straight day.

New Tax Deal For Provinces?
OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker is writing to provincial premiers this week to propose federal-provincial discussions on tax-sharing arrangements, it was learned Sunday night.

It was considered possible that the prime minister has in mind negotiations of a new agreement for federal-provincial sharing of income tax revenue to replace existing arrangements.

Ike Sees 'Sunny Side' In Balanced Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today sent Congress a $77,000,000,000 budget forecasting a spending cut of nearly $4,000,000,000 and a precarious surplus of $70,000,000. He called it "a confidence budget" that assumes a surge of prosperity.

Eisenhower said the budget aims to restrain inflationary forces that "cheapen our money and erode our savings." He also said it paves the way for a tax cut "in the reasonably foreseeable future."

No tax cuts were proposed for the present. In fact, to help achieve the first balanced budget in three years, Eisenhower is asking Congress to increase postal rates and gasoline taxes. He also wants some tax loopholes plugged.

BOOST FOR MILITARY
Eisenhower said his fiscal blueprint, for all its emphasis on economy, promises to "increase our military effectiveness." The budget calls for increasing defence department military spending by $145,000,000 but projects a cut of $462,000,000 in arms aid to other lands.

Democrats in Congress, which they control, generally were critical of the budget, as they had been before its submission. Republicans welcomed the plans for a balanced budget and said the alternative is more inflation.

Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson indicated that if Congress increases spending in the new budget a tax increase—rather than a cut—would become a real possibility.

The president disclosed that in the current fiscal year, which ends June 30, the government's finances will be even deeper in the red than had been predicted. He said recession-hit revenues will fall $12,871,000,000 short of match indicated spending of $80,871,000,000.

He said this deficit—the biggest ever in peacetime—Continued on Page 2

Castro's Invitation Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Wayne Morse (Dem., Ore.) today rejected an invitation by Fidel Castro for United States congressional critics of his revolutionary regime to visit Havana for a first-hand look.

Instead, Morse called on Castro to invite a United Nations team to observe procedures of the new Cuban government, especially those followed in executing Batista backers.

Morse, chairman of the Senate foreign relations subcommittee on Latin American affairs, said:

"The sad fact is that the Castro regime shot many Batista people without a semblance of a fair trial. I haven't any doubt that a fair trial would have found them guilty. However, that does not justify Castro adopting the same police-state methods in handling his opposition as Batista used."

'Snow Jam' Hits Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—A heavy snowfall today caused major traffic tie-ups in the Metropolitan Toronto area.

District Chief John Harrison of suburban North York said it was the worst in years with cars backed up 2 1/2 miles from the city limits on Yonge Street.

200 ARRESTED

Argentina Hit By Mass Strike

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentine security forces today arrested more than 200 leaders of a crippling wave of strikes which the government calls a Communist-Peronist putsch.

The arrests were made in raids before dawn as President Arturo Frondizi was en route to the United States on a goodwill visit in which he is expected to bid for help to pull his country out of economic chaos.

One target was the Communist party's headquarters, which was closed down along with the offices of the Communist newspaper la Hora. All the capital's daily newspapers were tied up by walkouts of printers and editorial staff.

The crackdown was launched in an effort to break the mass walkout which has paralyzed most industry and commerce and vital sectors of transport, such as domestic airlines, shipping, buses, streetcars and taxis.

Soldiers stood guard to keep subways and trains running. In a message sent from his plane, Frondizi warned that he will use the army to crush any attempt at subversion arising from the strikes.

The capital was in a virtual state of siege as orders went out to conscripts in the 24th age class to stand by for a call

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—John Patterson was sworn in today as governor of Alabama with a warning to Negroes that continued pressure for integration will mean the closing of their schools.

"If you do not do so, and these agitators continue at their present pace," Patterson said in a prepared inaugural address, "in a short time you will have no public school system at all."

And if the schools are closed, they may never be reopened "in your lifetime, and mine."

"Our children will suffer the consequences," Patterson said. "Our race problems will never be solved by court decrees, injunctions and federal

Service Clubs Urged to 'Get Ball Rolling' on Auditorium

Greater Victoria service clubs today were urged to band together in an effort to start the ball rolling for construction of a civic auditorium.

Courtney Haddock, chairman of a former committee that spearheaded a drive for an auditorium three years ago, today said the Greater Victoria centennial committee's decision to put at least $10,000 in trust for an auditorium is "a marvellous start."

"We all want a worthwhile multi-purpose auditorium," he said. "The service clubs could be of great help if they formed a council to back the project and put their combined revenues into it, along with the grants from the municipalities. The provincial government could be asked to contribute too."

"If we fiddle around we'll never live to see it built. We need some group to get the ball rolling and that's where the Greater Victoria service clubs could be of great assistance."

Mr. Haddock pointed out that the Spokane, Wash., multi-purpose auditorium was making a profit and is booked solid for months ahead by conventions and community associations.

"I'm confident we can do the same thing if we refuse to be faint-hearted about it. It would be a great boon to the area because this is a tourist, not an industrial city."

"We would get the money back very quickly in new revenue for the whole area from the large conventions that could be attracted here by a proper auditorium."

Presidents of three service clubs indicated today their executive committee would consider Mr. Haddock's proposal if an official approach was made.

"Certainly we would consider it fully," said Rotary president Maurice Green. "There is a council of service clubs that meets occasionally and this might be something for it to discuss."

Kiwanis president Robert Dykes said his club would consider joining a united drive if it was officially requested.

Junior Chamber of Commerce president Ray Rawnsley said it "definitely would be considered if we get something in writing."

However, all three men added their clubs were currently engaged in major projects that could not be dropped. Rotary is assisting Goodwill Enterprises, Kiwanis is embarking on an expansion of the Kiwanis Village for senior citizens, and the Jaycees are raising money for a second ice skating surface.

MONTE ROBERTS

Although I am but a mere house husband, I have every sympathy for the multiple problems of the modern housewife.

Especially with regard to the modern labor-saving devices with which the kitchen of the modern housewife is infested.

The house husband, too, has his problems, such as at what temperature to set the thermostat controlling the furnace.

But these are picayune compared to the problems of the modern housewife.

Last week, right here in Victoria, one of these problems manifested itself in the ugliest way.

A housewife who is married to one of the loyal constituents of this column recently acquired a fully automatic range.

The kind which starts itself and stops itself by a time clock.

So one day this housewife wished to go out and around and about during the afternoon, and still have dinner ready at six p.m.

She followed the simple directions, prepared the dinner, set the stove's time to start the oven at 4.30 p.m. and to turn it off at 6 p.m.

She then left the house, at 1 p.m., secure in the knowledge that modern science would protect her during her absence, and produce a dinner of excellent quality at 6 p.m.

The rest of the story is simple but tragic; she returned just before six, and reports she has never in her life seen a stove look so frustrated.

It turned on at 4.30 p.m. and was about to turn off at six p.m.

The only trouble was, the housewife had left the dinner sitting on a shelf just out of reach of the stove.

You think this housewife has a problem? Then think of the housewife of the future.

I have it on reliable authority that there will soon be available a stove which operates by the use of IBM-type punch cards.

What the housewife has to do is put the meat, potatoes, vegetables, cream sauce and so on in different ovens or on burners, then feed the stove the correct punch card.

Automatic timers will follow the direction of the card and turn everything off and on at the right time.

You will notice, please, I mentioned feeding the stove the CORRECT punch cards.

What will happen when the housewife feeds the stove the INCORRECT punch card?

"And you can bet your last upsidedown cake she will."

The mashed potatoes will be grilled, the steak boiled, the carrots fried, and the cream sauce evaporated.

And it is entirely likely that even the correct card will be inserted backwards, resulting in everything being deep-frozen instead of deep fried.

Indeed, indeed, I do sympathize with the plight of the modern housewife.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

An illustrated talk on Japan and Japanese culture will be given at the Art Gallery next Wednesday evening at 8.30 by Professor B. C. Binning, head of the Fine Arts Department at the University of British Columbia. One of Canada's best known painters, Professor Binning recently spent several months in Japan.

A film analysis of world communism, "The Crimson Shadow," will be shown at 8 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 24, in the Evangelistic Temple, Queens and Blanshard.

The half-hour presentation will be made by Rev. Arthur Sheppard, and the public will be welcome.

First consignment of Bibles to the Soviet Union was made recently by the British and Foreign Bible Society in Canada, consisting of 200 copies in the Armenian language.

The society sends Bibles to different parts of the world at the rate of six tons a day throughout the year. The books are free, the cost being borne by the society.

Attilio Randy, last original stall operator left in the public market building, said over the weekend that a petition will be circulated among shoppers next Saturday, urging city council to preserve the 44-year-old landmark instead of demolishing it for a parking lot when the main firehall is vacated this spring.

He said council should determine feasibility of constructing a concrete roof, over the stalls and using the second floor for a civic auditorium.

FROZEN TUNA HOT OR COLD?

The atomic age came close to home today.

The federal fisheries department, taking no chances of a "hot" cargo arriving here, sent an inspector to Ogden Point with a Geiger counter to check for radioactivity in a 200-ton shipment of frozen tuna from Japan.

King Brothers Ltd., agents for the Elizabeth Bakke which brought the fish here, said the check was "normal routine" on all seafood caught in Pacific waters that conceivably could be affected by hydrogen bomb tests.

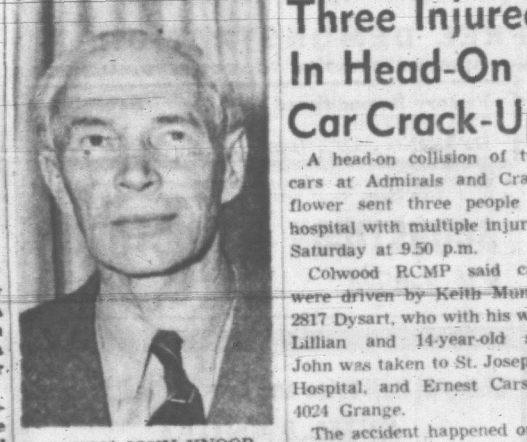

A REAL 'CUT-UP'

Blandly indifferent to what he has done to Mom's curls, five-year-old Bruce Pinard faces the camera with Mrs. Norma Pinard at home at 457 Thetis Crescent.

Armed with large pair of scissors, Bruce calmly sheared off one side of Mom's head while she slept. Alas, Mrs. Pinard had hoped to join her sailor husband in Halifax, where he is taking a six-month course, but must now wait until her hair grows again.

"I nearly went crazy when I woke up and looked in the mirror," Mrs. Pinard said. "Now I'm just beginning to see the funny side. I only hope my husband will." (Photo by Strickland.)

By DAVID COWLISHAW

Members of the Seafarers' International Union are planning to go on strike against Canadian Pacific coast steamships Feb. 16, The Times was told Sunday.

Federal administration of the fleet—ordered last July 25 to break a two-month walkout—is due to end Feb. 15.

The SIU spokesman, a Vancouver man in Victoria during the weekend, said "the boys" originally planned to strike the CPR ships Feb. 1, but decided to wait until the 15th "so they can do it legal."

'HOT-TO-TROT'

"They have been hot-to-trot for many weeks," he said, "and it'll all blow up on the 16th of February."

Union port agent in Vancouver, Norman Cunningham, today declined to align himself with the SIU informant, but admitted members were "hot to do something" when the federal administration ends.

Asked if this was an indication of strike action, Mr. Cunningham replied, "Once we're out of it (federal control), what happens next is up to the membership."

NO COMMENT

A CPR spokesman declined comment on the statements, and R. K. Smith, federal administrator in Vancouver, could not be reached at his hotel.

The federal government took over the CPR ships after lengthy negotiation talks to end the then year-old dispute resulted in failure. The SIU men walked off the ships May 16.

Wicks Tells MP To Mind His Own Business

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks today told a British member of parliament to mind his own affairs.

Last Wednesday, E. H. C. Leather, Conservative MP for Somerset, criticized B.C. union leaders and said the B.C. labor scene is one of the most unsettled in the world.

Mr. Wicks did not say whether he agreed or disagreed with Mr. Leather's sentiments, but he said: "It is a little unusual for a political personage to go into another country and make comments on matters of public contention, which he did. Comment on international affairs would be more appropriate."

Alexander Resigning Power Firm

It is anticipated in informed circles that Lord Alexander will resign his directorate of the Peace River Power Development Company.

Earlier reports of his resignation were denied today by company officials in Vancouver, but it was indicated strongly that his resignation was anticipated because of ill health.

He has informed the board that he will be unable to attend the next meeting, scheduled for Vancouver Feb. 15 to 20.

ASK The TIMES

Q. When was one month's free B.C. Electric light given, and why? —T.M.C.

A. Electrical power was given free of charge by the BCE in November and December, 1943, November and December, 1944, and October 15 to November 15, 1945. The company had experienced rapid growth in electric and gas loads and in the transit system during wartime, and so that the allowed rate of return would not be exceeded, Premier John Hart, on recommendation of the Public Utilities Commission, ordered the company to supply customers with free light. Based on the seven years prior to 1943, revenue during war years could not be considered normal, nor was there any assurance they would continue at this rate. Therefore the PUC did not feel a complete revision of the rate structure was indicated, but relied on electrical consumers was justified on a temporary basis.

Naden Men
Die as Car

Two HMCS Naden sailors were killed and a third escaped serious injury in a spectacular highway crash near Haney, B.C. early Sunday.

Dead are OS Gerald W. Bolky, 20, of Webster's Corners, six miles east of Haney, and OS Richard J. Branch, 19, of Moccasin, 20 miles north of Williams Lake.

OS Roy Larsen, 21, of Haney, suffered only slight head cuts and was not detained in hospital.

POWER OUT

An area between Haney and Webster's Corners was without power for nearly two hours after the car, in which the three were travelling, smashed into a power pole four miles east of the town, snapping it in two places and ripping down wires.

RCMP said the car was attempting to pass another vehicle when the accident happened at 2:15 a.m.

The three sailors were on a 48-hour weekend pass from Naden, and had just completed a trade group course there in engineering mechanics.

Bolky and Branch were dead when medical aid arrived.

Police said it had not yet been determined who was driving the car, which belonged to Branch.

Kin of the dead men were given as Richard Branch, father of the car owner, and Mrs. William Ojanima, mother of Bolky.

'FRIENDSHIP OR WAR'
MIKOYAN WARNS U.S.Visit Explodes
In Angry Clash

(Times News Services)

WASHINGTON — Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's sweetness-and-light visit to the United States blew up today in an angry exchange of cold war charges with the government.

Mikoyan declared in a National Press Club speech that the U.S. is completely rigid in its cold war position.

"We all realize that the cold war is the prelude—or may be the prelude—to a hot war," he said.

"We have no other alternative—either peace and friendship or war," he warned.

During a question period Mikoyan said Russia would meet force with force if the U.S. tried to break through any blockade of West Berlin. Mikoyan said after a 45-minute meeting with C. Douglas Dillon, undersecretary of state.

'I Believe Americans Want Peace'

The Soviet leader said on the eve of his return to Moscow that talks with Americans generally led him to believe the country wants peace.

"But," he said, the government "still remains in the old cold war position."

He said his talks with President Eisenhower, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and other U.S. officials were "pleasant, friendly and useful exchanges."

But "when it came to concrete, specific matters, it was indicated that the bi-partisan policy, shared by the Allies, remains unchanged," Mikoyan said.

He said the only response he got when asked whether it for economic affairs, that the state department is conducting a cold war that affects world trade.

The department immediately issued an equally angry retort that Mikoyan was abusing U.S. hospitality by making fatuous remarks about the government.

Mikoyan broadened his charges in his press club speech.

He said the United States, with the apparent backing of its allies, remains unwilling to reach agreement with the Soviet Union on cold war issues.

was good to have an unchanged policy was "that if conditions change, the policy also will change."

"Let us hope," he said, "and those who believe in God pray, that neither our country nor your country nor any other country will suffer from a new war that would be more terrible than anything in history."

Mikoyan obviously was upset by the refusal of Dillon to offer concessions on the issue of U.S.-Soviet trade, which Mikoyan wants to increase.

He emerged from Dillon's office and told newsmen that "the cold war in the state department is still going on and it affects foreign trade."

'Fatuous on the Face of It'

State department press officer Lincoln White replied that "this allegation is fatuous on the face of it, particularly when it comes at the close of a tour of this country where this man has been very cordially received by all classes of American citizens."

Mikoyan was turned down on a three-point plan for increasing trade which included:

1. Removal of restrictions which prevent extension of long-term credit to Russia.
2. Most-favored-nation treatment for Russian goods and products.
3. Removal of the strategic controls against export of war potential equipment to Russia.

White said Mikoyan refused to accept Dillon's proposal that discussions be resumed on settlement of Russia's Second World War lend-lease debt to the U.S.

Mikoyan urged in his Press Club speech that the United States and Russia stop rehashing past recriminations and "let us rather act correctly in the future."

He said there "Not any obstacles in my path and every facility was given me to observe" during his two-week stay in the U.S.

White referred to Mikoyan's freedom of activity in replying to the Russian's cold war charges. White said Mikoyan strolled around suburban Washington areas Sunday and entered private homes without invitation.

'BILLION DOLLAR
BRAGGADOCIO'

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Pearson today accused the government of misleading Canadians on the state of the economy and embarking on "bumbling and fumbling" policies including a public works program that turned out to be a "billion dollar braggadocio."

"In truth, things now are very different from the vision of 'paradise regained' so joyfully proclaimed by the Tories on last April Fool's Day," the Liberal chief said in the Commons as he kicked off the 10-day throne speech debate.

He moved a motion of non-confidence in the government, charging the Progressive Conservative administration with "lamentable indecision" in dealing with "grave national problems" such as "mounting unemployment."

... BUT IT'S SPRING FOR A DAY

Sunshine and clear skies attracted early tourists to Butchart Gardens today where close to 30,000 bulbs have already been planted. Fifteen gardeners are now engaged in general "cleaning up" and 24 will be working full time at the next main planting in early May. Hatless, coatless man on right obviously has full confidence in Greater Victoria weather—doesn't know snow flurries are predicted by weatherman for tonight.—(Halkett Photo.)

Argentina
Police Fight
Big Strike

BUENOS AIRES (AP) —

Argentine security forces today arrested more than 200 leaders of a crippling wave of strikes which the government calls a Communist-Peronist putsch.

The arrests were made in raids before dawn as President Arturo Frondisi was en route to the United States on a goodwill visit in which he is expected to bid for help to pull his country out of economic chaos.

One target was the Communist party's headquarters, which was closed down along with the offices of the Communist newspaper la Hora. All the capital's daily newspapers were tied up by walkouts of printers and editorial staff.

The crackdown was launched in an effort to break the mass walkout which has paralyzed most industry and commerce and vital sectors of transport, such as domestic airlines, shipping, buses, streetcars and taxis.

Soldiers stood guard to keep subways and trains running.

The capital was in a virtual state of siege as orders went out to conscripts in the 24-26 age class to stand by for a call from the army at any moment.

One bomb went off in La Plata, 35 miles southeast of the capital, doing about $1,000 in damage to the building housing the U.S. information service. Another exploded in the capital, damaging the home of Rogelio Frigerio, economic adviser to the president.

Ike Sees 'Sunny Side'
In Balanced Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today sent Congress a $77,000,000,000 budget forecasting a spending cut of nearly $4,000,000,000 and a precarious surplus of $700,000,000. He called it "a confidence budget" that assumes a surge of prosperity.

Eisenhower said the budget reasonably foreseeable future. No tax cuts were proposed. "We are eroding our way for the present. In fact, to help achieve the first balanced budget in three years."

AFRICANS MAY BOYCOTT
QUEEN MOTHER'S VISIT

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters) — Negro legislators today said Africans "deemed it impossible to associate themselves in any way" with Queen Mother Elizabeth's visit here next month.

African elected members of the Kenya legislative council passed a resolution which was taken as an implicit call for a boycott of the royal visit.

In a statement, Roand Ngala, secretary of the legislative group, said they were making this announcement because the British government had not listened to Negro grievances.
